Local Tour Party In Italian Hurricane Area Fear Expressed For Twenty-six Victoria People

Party Conducted by Dr. Clem Davies in Venice Last Night When Hurricane Caused Twenty-two Deaths at Treviso, Seventeen Miles Away; Anxiety Expressed for Safety of Local Tourists; Just Missed Earthquakes in Naples.

Twenty-six Victorians, traveling on the European tour arranged by Rev. Clem Davies, pastor of the City Temple, yesterday were in the Italian region swept by a devastating hurricane, which, according to telegraphic reports, killed twenty-two people, injured many others and destroyed 100 houses.

Apprehension for their safety was expressed by relatives and friends of these people to-day. The party reached Venice, which is only seventeen miles from Treviso, where the hurricane's force was felt with the greatest intensity, on Wednesday. This morning, according to the advance itinerary, they were to leave the city of canals for Austria and in all probability would pass through the stricken area.

As far as could be ascertained this morning, no word had been received here by relatives of any of the party. Numerous inquiries were received by E. M. Marshall, city passenger agent for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway, who arranged the tour bookings.

MISS EARTHQUAKE

Dispatches from Italy indicate that the party has been fortunate enough to miss by only a day or two the earthquake which ravaged the country near Naples on Wednesday. They arrived in Naples last week, spending two days there.

On Wednesday the area around Naples suffered one of its worst quakes in years. The death list is placed at nearly 3,000 and nearly 3,500 homes were wrecked.

Naples itself was swept by a violent hurricane, great waves swept over the shores.

MAY HAVE TOUCHED VENICE
The effects of last night's hurricane at Treviso, in northern Italy, were reported to have been felt for twenty-five miles around, in which event, Venice, only seventeen miles away, was probably in the path of the storm.

This morning the Victoria party provided the schedule is adhered to and the hurricane did not touch the party, should be on the way from Venice to Innsbruck in Austria, passing through the devastated zone en route.

MEMBERS OF PARTY

Those in the party are: Mr. and Mrs. W. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Shields, Miss Betty Shields, Mrs. Ward, Mrs. A. M. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. A. Schroeder, Mrs. Thekla Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. E. Branchflower, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Hoyer, Miss A. Osborne, Miss C. Macaulay, Mrs. Fred Parsons, Mrs. L. C. Broad, Miss Anita Broad, Miss Maymie Rhodes, H. Steinhilber, and Dr. and Mrs. Davies.

WEAKENING THE EMPIRE

The Toronto Star

Apparently annoyed by the evidence that Conservatives are repudiating the leadership of Mr. Bennett because of his attitude towards intra-imperial trade, Premier Ferguson asks whether anyone can mention a single movement against the solidarity of the Empire that the Conservative party has not fought tooth and nail.

The attack made by Mr. Bennett upon the system of British trade preference is such a movement and his attack has the open support of Mr. Ferguson. Mr. Bennett should have been ready to support the increase in the British preference granted by the Dunning budget and to have welcomed it as something tending to strengthen the ties that unite Canada and the motherland. But being the leader of an opposition party and intent upon making political capital he denounced Canada's freely-offered trade preference, advocated hard-fisted bargaining with Britain and said that a dollar going out of Canada to buy goods in another part of the Empire was just as much lost to Canada as a dollar going to the United States.

Mr. Ferguson, blinded by his hatred of Mr. King, may see nothing in Mr. Bennett's policy calculated to weaken the Empire. But the people of Canada, including many lifelong Conservatives, are more clear sighted and will refuse to send to the Imperial Trade Conference in September a man who would sweep away the system of voluntary preferences and substitute for it a process of haggling.

"NO TRUCK NOR TRADE"

The Ottawa Citizen

How are Conservative orators and writers behaving towards the British preference clauses in the Dunning budget, clauses which open up a splendid opportunity to develop Empire and world trade for Canada, clauses which hold out a helping hand, without asking any favors in return, to that tired Titan, the Motherland, who has spent blood and treasure unsparingly to keep Canada and the Empire intact? They are either discreetly silent or selfishly nationalistic. We need not reiterate here all that Mr. Bennett and his followers on the platform have said. Their motto is, "No truck nor trade with the British unless they give us equal preference favors in return." Mr. Bennett has propounded Conservative policy towards Empire and British trade in one revealing statement.

If a dollar goes to the West Indies that should go to Canada, it is no better than if the money went to the United States.

BIG SUMS ARE OFFERED FOR ITALY RELIEF

Hurricane in Northern Region Adds Twenty-two to Tremblers' Total

Canadian Press
Rome, July 25.—Another earthquake at Ariano, in the midst of an already ruined area, and a hurricane that spread terror and death throughout northern Italy to-day added to an already tremendous relief problem in this stricken country of homeless, ever-growing death lists and hospitals filled with injured.

The Italian people to-day disregarded the edict of Premier Mussolini against public and private subscriptions for the victims and united in spontaneous offerings which steadily flowed into the Premier's office.

TWENTY-TWO KILLED
Treviso, Italy, July 25.—New figures on the hurricane which swept down the Piave Valley last night showed twenty-two persons were killed, 100 injured and 300 houses damaged.

The storm tore away many buildings, principally at Barco Di Serenara, Nerves, Salva and Volpago, and swept over a stretch of twenty-five miles. Relief expeditions were organized immediately.

Forest Fires Stir Suspicion Of Incendiarism

Four forest fires which broke out on Thursday afternoon west of Ladysmith are of incendiary origin, it is declared by provincial forestry officers.

While loggers and forest rangers were battling two outbreaks in the vicinity of Crystal Lake, about six miles from Ladysmith, two fires occurred in green timber six miles further west.

The fire at Trout Lake, after spreading over 800 acres, has been brought under control.

LIBERALS HAVE DONE MUCH FOR WORKING CLASS

Have Wonderful Record in Social and Industrial Legislation, Speaker Says

Local Liberals Will Close Astonishingly Successful Campaign To-morrow Night

"Liberalism and Labor" was the title of an address given by Miss M. A. McQuarrie yesterday evening over CFCF in company with Stuart Henderson, Liberal candidate for the local riding.

Miss McQuarrie sketched the record of the King Government in labor legislation during the last eight years, and said that the reduction in taxes achieved under the Liberal regime was far more important to the working man than to his richer brethren to whom a reduction in food and commodity prices did not mean so much. She also reminded her hearers that such things as factory inspection, workmen's compensation, working hours, mothers' allowances and relief of all kinds came under the jurisdiction of the provincial governments and could not be altered by Federal statutes.

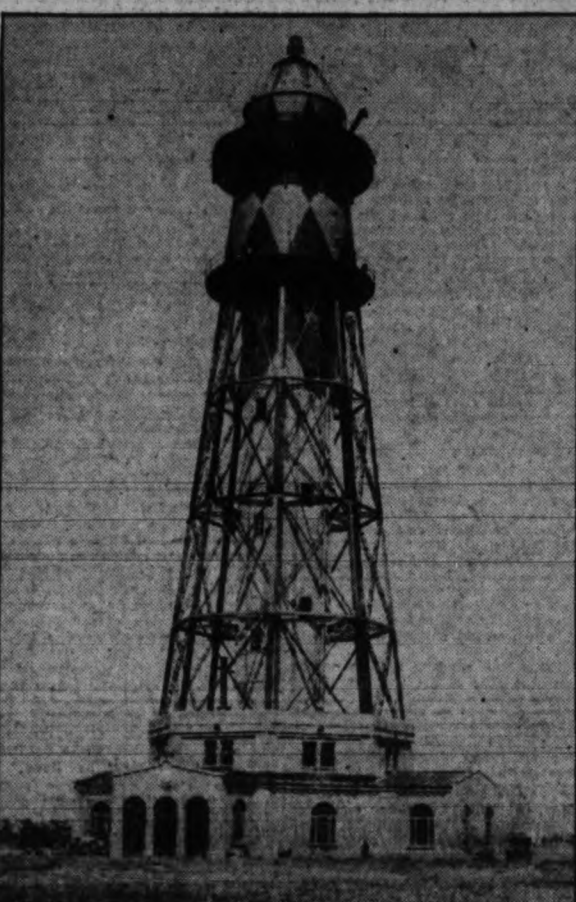

Miss McQuarrie sketched the record of Liberal governments—particularly those of Sir Wilfrid Laurier—in this connection.

Advanced Poll In Pemberton Building Is Open To-night

The first night of advanced polling saw fifteen Victoria voters mark ballots at Room 24 in the Pemberton Building. The poll will be open again to-night from 7 o'clock until 10 o'clock for railway employees, seamen and commercial travelers whose work will call them out of the city on Monday. To-morrow the poll will be open for the last time from 2 o'clock in the afternoon till 10 o'clock at night.

CREW AT MONTREAL FIELD AWAITS ARRIVAL OF DIRIGIBLE R-100

Above is a picture of the mast at the St. Hubert Field, near Montreal, where it is planned the R-100 will be moored when it arrives after its flight from England. The mast was constructed by the Federal Government and a crew has been assembled and trained for its task. Many thousands of people are expected to visit the field for a glimpse of the big dirigible while it is there.

AUDIENCES OF 16,000 AND RADIO LISTENERS HEAR PREMIER KING IN ONE DAY

Stratford, Ont., July 25.—The last scheduled meeting but one of Premier King's tour during the present election campaign will be held this evening at Cornwall, in South-eastern Ontario, on the St. Lawrence, the long journey to which town he started after his address here yesterday evening. The Prime Minister will address his last audience at Renfrew, Ont., Saturday afternoon. Then Mr. King will go back to Ottawa for the final act of his campaign—a speech over a national radio hook-up Saturday evening. (8 to 9 p.m. Victoria time).

Two huge audiences listened to Premier King's message yesterday. In the afternoon he spoke in "Liberty," where a throng of about 6,000 gathered in a park to hear him. A special train rushed him to Stratford for an evening meeting, and here, in the Arena, he addressed a visible audience estimated at from 8,000 to 10,000 and, over the radio, an audience that could not be estimated.

At both meetings Mr. King was listened to with the closest attention and frequently was obliged to pause for outbursts of cheering and applause.

The great crowds which have heard the Premier on his Ontario tour leave no doubt the keen interest in this province in the outcome of the polling, and are taken to indicate a record vote next Monday.

When the Prime Minister arrived in Stratford from Tilbury a welcome was extended on behalf of the city by Mayor C. E. Moore.

AN APPEAL TO THE VICTORIA ELECTORS!

Elections are won by votes, not by wishes. If the Liberals of this constituency desire to send Mr. Stuart Henderson to Ottawa, they will have to get out and vote for him. There is a tendency at times to say, "Oh, one vote either way makes no difference." One vote may make all the difference.

Our transportation committee has made all arrangements to take those Liberals to the polls who may require assistance. A telephone call is all that is necessary to obtain the service of a car.

Victoria should send a representative to Ottawa to support the King Government. This is our great opportunity and we should seize it.

EGYPT SAID TO BE NEAR REVOLUTION

Nationalists Preparing to Hold Parliament Session Despite King's Ban

Correspondent Says Rumors Current Fuad May Be Forced to Abdicate

London, July 25.—The Cairo correspondent of The London Daily Express says Egypt is bordering on revolution and the Wafdists (Nationalists) will hold a session of parliament outside of the Parliament Buildings in Cairo to-morrow.

Heavy forces of troops have been concentrated in the capital and there is grave danger of a serious clash, he says.

Such sessions have been prohibited by King Fuad since Premier Ismail Sidki Pasha recently formed a new cabinet. Followers of Nubas Pasha, former Premier, planned Monday to hold a forcible session inside the Parliament Buildings, but called it off because of the government's show of force.

Adherents of the Wafd party held riots for the next two days in Cairo, Port Said and Suez.

TALK OF REPUBLIC
The correspondent reports all Egypt is tense, with reports frequent that the Wafdists are planning to force King Fuad's abdication and establish either a republic or a new dynasty. Cairo is filled with troops and in Alexandria, where a large British ship lies in the bay, armed British and Egyptian police patrol the city in pairs.

Everywhere, he writes, the citizens are nervous. Foreign business is paralyzed and there is some doubt of the loyalty of the army. Wafdist propaganda has been spread widely among the troops.

NEW MOVE IN G.T.R. CASE IS FAILURE

Privy Council in London Refuses Stockholders Leave to Appeal

By THOMAS T. CHAMPTION, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

London, July 25.—The refusal of the Governor-General of Canada to issue the first necessary for presentation of a petition of right from dissatisfied stockholders of the Grand Trunk Railway Company came before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council here to-day.

Counsel on behalf of the stockholders submitted the refusal of the court for action was wrongful and that an appeal from the Governor-General's decision to the King-in-Council would be justified.

KNOTTY QUESTION

At the outset, however, Lord Dunsborough protested, "How are we to say to the Governor-General that we have power to tell him what he ought to do?" he asked.

Cardington, Eng., July 25.—The dirigible R-100 left its hangar here this forenoon and was attached to its mooring mast preparatory to a twenty-four-hour trial flight starting this evening. If the test is satisfactory the R-100 probably will start for Montreal in three or four days.

The lighter than air craft will undergo a final thorough inspection during to-night's flight. If found airworthy the ship will be returned to its mast, refueled and provisioned. Present plans would permit the airship to arrive in Canada about August 1.

Gains in Several Provinces Are Predicted By Observers

Canadian Press
Ottawa, July 25.—The official election forecast of the Liberal Party was made public by the National Liberal Bureau here this afternoon. It contemplated a majority over all for the present administration of 27, with a possibility of 39.

The statement said: "A careful appraisal of the reports received from the Provincial Liberal Associations indicates extensive gains for the government in those sections of the country which in the last election gave their support to the opposition. This is particularly the case in the Maritime Provinces where the constituencies report a definite swing towards the Liberals."

"On the Prairies, where local issues have at times obscured those of national import, the government will hold its own, with the prospect of making gains."

Canadians Pleased With Dunning Plan For Empire Trade

C. H. O'Halloran Given Ovation by Enthusiastic Esquimalt Meeting Yesterday; Nanaimo Riding Swings to Liberalism as Result of British Preference Extension in Budget; Geo. S. Pearson, M.P.P., and N. W. Whittaker Support Candidate.

Expressing conviction that the voters of Nanaimo Riding had been won to the support of the Liberal Party by the Dunning budget and the strengthening of the ties of Empire which will ensue, C. H. O'Halloran, Liberal candidate, yesterday evening closed his campaign in the southern portion of Nanaimo Riding with a well attended and enthusiastic meeting at the Rex Theatre, Esquimalt. The meeting was featured by a trenchant attack upon Hon. R. H. Pooley by Mr. O'Halloran, who denounced the Attorney-General for making insinuations which he knew to be untrue, at a meeting held recently at Esquimalt, after having withdrawn somewhat similar statements made earlier in the campaign at Cobble Hill.

J. P. Meher was chairman, other speakers being Norman W. Whittaker and George S. Pearson, M.P.P., of Nanaimo. Between the addresses, vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. Pooley, accompanied by W. Meher, and Miss Celia Lewis gave a recitation.

"The chief question of the election is 'Does the Dunning budget lead to closer relations with the British Empire?'" Mr. O'Halloran asked, reviewing the career of Hon. C. H. Dunning, to show his breadth of vision and great ability. He told how the Minister of Finance had foreseen that the great prosperity of recent years would be followed by a period of depression, and that the United States would impose increased tariffs on Canadian goods. Mr. O'Halloran told of revision of tariff schedules by the Advisory Tariff Board, under the direction of Mr. Dunning, with the intent that purchases of hundreds of articles in common use, especially steel and iron products, would be transferred from the United States to Great Britain. He said that items were placed on the free list to benefit British industry and a preference of increased importance was accorded vast numbers of other schedules.

Such a budget would be of vital worth to British business, assuring $250,000,000 of purchases from England by Canadians, while many items used by Canadians would be cheaper than hitherto. "I know the people of Nanaimo riding; I am sure they are glad to be able to aid their British kith and kin," he said.

EFFECT WIDELY FELT
The vast new trade from Britain to Canada would create new lines of shipping. The vessels must have return cargoes and wheat would help provide those exchange shipments.

The popular reception given the Empire trade in Britain showed the Dunning budget had, caught the imagination of the British people, who were determined to make the trade exchange a huge success.

Canada also had vast supplies of lumber, and could capture the British market for $75,000,000 worth of sawn timber at present obtained from Oregon and Washington.

To show the vast ramifications of the new trade, Mr. O'Halloran recited the benefits gained by the Empire in two years, following the Canada-West Indies preference and the British Columbia being valued at $3,500,000.

EXPORT TRADE VITAL
Manufacture of Canadian raw materials for export would provide high wages. Docks had to be built and operated and the candidate added that better food Western Canada be developed. "Without export trade, we westerners would remain hewers of wood and drawers of water. When we see what has been the success of the West Indies trade, innovation, it takes little imagination to visualize the worth to us of securing a market of 45,000,000 people, yet that is the major objective of the Dunning budget," he said.

Touching upon the forthcoming Empire Economic Conference at London, Mr. O'Halloran declared, "Canada has offered the first step and indication as to the manner whereby greater Empire trade may be attained."

In support of this view he quoted a number of British newspaper articles in appreciation of Canada's action, "It is not idle for opposition speakers to come before you and argue that the Dunning budget does not provide what Canada needs?" he asked, declaring the questions most under study by voters all centred upon the effect of the budget upon Canada and the Empire.

As alternative to the Dunning budget the Conservatives only offer a tariff like a Chinese wall, despite the two high tariff examples of Australia and the vast deficit and the United States with its 9,000,000 men out of work because export trade had stopped when exchange of goods had halted," Mr. O'Halloran stated.

Thirty per cent of Canada's trade to-day is export business. If a high tariff is established to stifle trade exchange, you can expect to lose a great part of that valuable export trade," he warned.

WORST POLITICAL TENETS
Mr. O'Halloran reviewed Mr. Dickie's political patronage pledges made last year at Esquimalt, declaring his opponent's promises to justice valued government employees to make places for loyal party workers to be "most extraordinary."

As he sat on July 5 I challenged Mr. Pooley to meet me before July 26; he has not seen fit so to do. He took occasion at Cobble Hill to make a deliberately untrue statement regarding me. When I challenged Mr. Pooley, he denied having made the statement, although I had four reputable witnesses. Of course I accepted his denial. He is the Attorney-General of the Province. Yet he took occasion again, here in Esquimalt a few days ago, to make insinuations regarding me which he knew to be untrue.

"I say nothing more except to recall that The Daily Province coupled Mr. Pooley with Mr. Dickie as 'holding the' very worst political tenets that could possibly be held or preached," Mr. O'Halloran commented.

STRANGE PHRASES

"My opponent, Mr. Dickie, at Mayne Island, referred to the Dunning budget as 'nine-tenths bunkum.' Yet in the next breath said it was stolen from the Conservatives. Again, he said he would give free land to returned men. After ten years as member for Nanaimo, two weeks before the election, he discovers this great urge to give free land to returned soldiers."

"As Nanaimo recently, and again here in Esquimalt, he said 'it was better to vote for a yellow dog supporting the Conservatives than to send the brains of men in British Columbia to support a Liberal government.'"

"These statements are extraordinary. Can you wonder I doubt his sincerity?" Mr. O'Halloran asked.

Expecting an incorrect number of claims of successful activity made by his opponent, he reviewed the attainment of completion of the drydock by the efforts of John Hart, Wm. Ivel, T. N. Booth and H. C. Hall, asking "Where does Mr. Dickie appear in the picture?"

MANY OPPORTUNITIES
Discussing local matters on which the representative in the Commons could be active, Mr. O'Halloran pointed to the lack of use of the drydock and the port facilities of Victoria, declaring, "Such things should not be allowed to exist without strong protest by and on behalf of this community."

SHIP BUILDING
He also believed that the burden cast on Esquimalt by tax exempt Federal lands could be lessened by an energetic campaign of representations to Ottawa. In addition he considered naval construction activity at Esquimalt should be brought to the attention of the government, but a representative in the councils of the Liberal Government was essential before success could be looked for in such an important matter, which would employ hundreds of men.

"Unless you send to Ottawa a man of energy, able to get the ear of the government, the resources of Nanaimo riding are liable to continue to stagnate for forty years more as they have for forty years past," he pointed out when concluding his address, being strongly applauded and on behalf of this community."

COMPLAINT UNTRUE
Norman W. Whittaker countered complaint by a local tomato grower that the two cents duty on tomatoes was too low. He recalled that the association was formally on record as appreciative of the schedule, having officially thanked Mr. Dunning for the duty.

Unemployment was a problem in Canada but not an issue in the campaign. Other countries were more severely hit by the world-wide depression. Mr. Whittaker considered the King Government should be given credit for Canada having less unemployment than other countries.

NO INKLING GIVEN
"Mr. Bennett says he will call Parliament in special session on unemployment. The most Parliament could do would be to call a meeting. Mr. Bennett is already pledged to expenditure of $700,000,000 in constituencies where he has been speaking. Where would he get additional funds specifically for unemployment relief? He tells nothing of the methods he would adopt to mitigate unemployment."

"Premier King has already made an appropriation for the expense of a conference on unemployment by business leaders, labor, municipal and provincial authorities. Which is the better plan?" he asked, pointing out that unemployment would be a temporary matter, probably remedied in a few months, while basic national issues would continue to demand attention.

"It is up to the people to say which party they desire to handle those problems. In these days, when the strong man acts of Rocky Brooks, the tendency is away from high tariffs and towards promotion of trade by agreement. It would be nothing short of a disaster if the government were entrusted to Mr. Bennett, who talks of 'blasting his way to greater trade' he said, appealing for election of Mr. O'Halloran.

BROAD CHALLENGE

George S. Pearson, M.P.P., said Canada was too strong to be ruined, whichever party attained office. The platform of the Mackenzie King government was strong and constructive, while the opposition had confined itself to innuendo and side issues. "Anyone who votes on Monday as Conservative or Liberal because he has always done so will not be doing his duty by his country," he advised.

"If I believed the Conservative leaders had a solution of unemployment, and were party were willing to accept it, I would give them my support. I say further, if I did not believe Mr. King would devote every effort to this matter, I would leave his party. But I believe that to-day neither party has a solution for this great problem," he said.

"Mr. Bennett cannot promise to provide unemployment insurance because that would lose him a lot of support from his manufacturers' friends. He says by my trade policy I will give work to everyone. His trade policy is high tariff. Do you believe it will be a remedy?"

Mr. Pearson quoted figures to show that in six years Canada increased the worth of her manufactures from $2,500,000,000 to $3,250,000,000, and the number of men employed from 525,000 to 618,000. In the same period the United States industries employed 580,000 less men, paid out $1,500,000,000 less in wages, but sold goods valued at more than $2,000,000,000 above the worth six years earlier.

"In the States twenty per cent of union labor was unemployed. In the same period that Canada had only nine per cent of her union men out of work."

"And yet the Conservatives tell us that a high tariff will remedy matters," he commented, pointing out that Canadian business volume this year is equal to that of 1928, and seventy per cent above that of 1921-22.

FALACIES KNOWN

"When Conservatives assert unemployment is the result of Liberal governmental policies they are telling you something false which they know to be false," he charged.

Mr. Pearson reviewed the established method whereby Federal aid could be secured, pointing out that the system was devised in 1921 by a Conservative government, of which Premier S. F. Timmie was then a cabinet minister.

The assertion of Premier Timmie and other provincial cabinet ministers that a road policy costing $5,500,000 had been devised last February in expectation of unemployment was countered when Mr. Pearson quoted Hon. N. S. Loughheed as recently stating that no road loan funds could be used for unemployment relief, a special session of the legislature, being necessary to vote special funds. "The truth of the matter is our government over the Bay is using unemployment as an excuse for the huge and extravagant road programme they have in hand," he charged.

Dr. B. W. Leiske, medical superintendent of Resthaven Hospital, has kindly consented to give an informative talk on "How to Keep the Body Fit and Wholesome."

All children of club members will be accorded free admission as well as youthful members of eighteen years and under. An invitation has been extended to the Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Cubs and Brownies of the district. Each club member is accorded the privilege of extending a written invitation to one boy or girl other than club children.

A special eighteen-foot square, decorated wrestling platform is now under construction by the works committee, made possible by the gift of lumber from the Sidney Mills Ltd. This will form part of the equipment for the new gymnasium.

Wrestling exhibitions, club swinging and gymnastics and an informative talk on "Physical Development and Health" are listed on the programme for the benefit of the youngsters to be given at the North Saanich Service Club rooms at 8 o'clock to-night.

Rocky Brooks, Victoria's "Iron Man," well-known grappler and ex-middleweight wrestling champion of Canada, will give a demonstration of the catch-as-catch-can methods of grappling with the "Wild Bill" Thornton, middleweight champion of Washington. Both boys will also give demonstrations of the various holds used in wrestling and how to counter same.

Victorian bends horseshoes and iron bars with his teeth, drives nails with his fists and pulls them with his teeth, smashes granite with his fists and performs other feats of strength.

G. Spence Matthews, ex-champion, will give an exhibition of Indian club swinging. He has 1,100 swings per hour to his credit. It is anticipated that representatives from the Y.M.C.A. will demonstrate their skill in acrobatic displays.

Dr. B. W. Leiske, medical superintendent of Resthaven Hospital, has kindly consented to give an informative talk on "How to Keep the Body Fit and Wholesome."

All children of club members will be accorded free admission as well as youthful members of eighteen years and under. An invitation has been extended to the Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Cubs and Brownies of the district. Each club member is accorded the privilege of extending a written invitation to one boy or girl other than club children.

A special eighteen-foot square, decorated wrestling platform is now under construction by the works committee, made possible by the gift of lumber from the Sidney Mills Ltd. This will form part of the equipment for the new gymnasium.

Wrestling exhibitions, club swinging and gymnastics and an informative talk on "Physical Development and Health" are listed on the programme for the benefit of the youngsters to be given at the North Saanich Service Club rooms at 8 o'clock to-night.

Rocky Brooks, Victoria's "Iron Man," well-known grappler and ex-middleweight wrestling champion of Canada, will give a demonstration of the catch-as-catch-can methods of grappling with the "Wild Bill" Thornton, middleweight champion of Washington. Both boys will also give demonstrations of the various holds used in wrestling and how to counter same.

THREE MEN EXECUTED

Kanana City, July 25.—Three bank robbers who sprayed bullets into a Republican national convention crowd in a downtown district here two years ago were hanged simultaneously today for the murder of James H. (Happy) Smith, victim of their fire. They were Tony "Lollypop" Mangiaracina, Carl Nasello, machine gunner for the gang, and John Meeno, driver of the bandit's car. Those executed were three of the six bandits who planned and executed the robbery of the Home Trust Company June 14, 1928.

YOUTH IS DROWNED

Medicine Hat, Alta., July 25.—Unable to regain the bridge pier from which he had dived into the Saskatchewan River here, Arthur Lay, nineteen, drowned yesterday. Companions failed in efforts to rescue the youth.

TRADE GROWTH WILL CREATE EMPLOYMENT

Liberals Plan Increased Markets For Canadian Products, Says Hon. Ian Mackenzie

Minister Speaks in North Vancouver in Support of A. E. Munn

North Vancouver, July 25.—When Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Colonization and British Columbia's representative in the Federal Cabinet paid a visit to his former home constituency in the provincial legislature here yesterday evening, he was greeted by the large audience with applause and prolonged cheering.

Capt. Mackenzie gave an official farewell to his former constituents and concluded by urging the citizens to elect A. E. Munn in North Vancouver July 28.

"Let Mr. Munn join me and my other colleagues of Vancouver and British Columbia to make an early start on the Peace River outlet to Burrard Inlet and implement other pledges," he said.

"First Mackenzie and Munn in connection with the F.O.E. and make it Mackenzie and Munn," he added.

LIBERALS' UNEMPLOYMENT PLAN
 With unemployment conditions as bad as they are throughout the Dominion, the country was assured that no matter which side was elected this problem would be tackled speedily.

Capt. Mackenzie continued. But, he declared, not only was alleviation of present conditions necessary. It was of even more vital importance to Vancouver that recurrence of these conditions in an aggravated degree should be prevented permanently.

The Conservative solution, he stated, was the building of a high tariff wall and adoption of the McRae policy. That policy, he said, was to bring in $30,000,000 in a cost to the country of $300,000,000. To that policy, he declared, leaders of the Conservative party were committed.

The Liberal solution, he explained, was extension of outside markets and a national conference at which a cross-section of capital, industry and labor would be represented to find an immediate solution for present conditions and a plan to prevent any recurrence of them.

PREFERENTIAL TARIFF
 The vital issue of the election, he asserted, was extension of the British preference, to which the Liberal party was committed in the Dunning budget. That was why he urged return of the King government—so that Canada might be represented at the coming Imperial Conference by supporters of that policy.

Conservatives demanded from units of the Empire, he stated, a preference for a preference. Great Britain, he said, could not be forced to extend to Canada a preference and Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Conservatives, could not possibly succeed at that conference for that reason.

If Mr. Bennett could "blast his way" at the conference, Capt. Mackenzie declared, he might "blast away the key-stone of the British Empire."

Premier King, he said, had guaranteed a start on the Peace River outlet within a year. Mr. Bennett, he mentioned that question as an incident in Canada's general transportation problem.

He concluded by urging Mr. Munn be elected on July 28.

NEW ZEALAND SEES EXPORTS ON DECREASE

Wellington, N.Z., July 25.—The exports of New Zealand declined by more than $35,000,000 during the last financial year, Premier Forbes said in delivering his budget speech in the House of Representatives. Imports showed increase of nearly $20,000,000.

Revenue for the year amounted to $130,000,000, derived from taxation and expenditure totaled $150,000,000. Proceeds of the $25,000,000 loan raised in London, Wednesday, will be devoted to national utilities, $30,000,000 going to the construction of public works and the remainder to railway improvements and the development of hydro-electric plants.

The public debt of New Zealand on March 31, amounted to $128,600,000, showing a total net increase of $40,000,000 from last year. Apart from conversion operations there were no loans raised in London during the financial year 1929-30.

Tory Election Forecasts Declared Unfounded Guesses

Pembroke, Ont., July 25.—Speaking at a Liberal meeting here yesterday evening Rt. Hon. George F. Graham warned his hearers not to place any confidence in "the factory-made prognostications as to the result of the election sent out by our Conservative friends in Ottawa. In 1921, four days before the general election, they issued a forecast claiming sixty-five seats in Ontario alone and when the results were known it was found there were only fifty Conservatives elected in all Canada.

"That," said Senator Graham, "shows how much dependence should be placed on Conservative forecasts. It will be found after July 28 that they were all wrong."

Grain Yield Reduced By Lack of Rain

Toronto, July 25.—Crops in Ontario, between Lakes Huron and Erie, are in a bad way for lack of rain, according to J. B. Fairbairn, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, who has just returned from a tour of the province. In the district north and west of London, there has been no rain for weeks and the crops are practically burned up.

Tobacco crops were also suffering from the extreme heat and dryness, the Deputy Minister said.

Eastern Ontario, he said, had an abundance of rain this summer so far.

FOUR ROBBERS GOT ONLY $27

Vancouver, July 25.—Four bandits raided the East End Pharmacy on Nainimo Street late last night and escaped in an automobile with the contents of the till, amounting to $27.

Three men, one of them armed with a revolver, entered the store, police were told. They had driven up in a green automobile with black markings. It was parked outside the store for a few minutes before the men left it in charge of one of the quartette.

Led by a youth of about twenty, brandishing a revolver, they invaded the drugstore and ordered E. Snow, manager, T. Wilson, and Fred Matte, two boys talking to him, to throw up their hands.

Mr. Snow, police said, did not respond quickly enough and one of the bandits picked up an order book lying on the counter and threw it at him.

Two of the men guarded Mr. Snow and the two boys while the third scooped up the contents of the till.

MALCOLM SCORES ONTARIO'S HEAVY TAXATION SYSTEM

Federal Minister of Trade Criticizes Attitude of Premier Ferguson

Windsor, Ont., July 25.—"It is impossible to turn around in Ontario without an Ontario Government license of some kind or other," Hon. James Malcolm, Federal Minister of Trade and Commerce, said in an address here yesterday.

"It is true the people of Canada have paid more money into the treasury of the Dominion, but the per capita tax is lower," Mr. Malcolm stated. "Just compare the taxation methods. For instance, the people of Ontario have paid $20,000,000 in gasoline tax. There would be no complaint about this if the money had been spent for good roads, but it is being used for other purposes."

Mr. Malcolm recalled that a year ago, when Premier Ferguson was asking the people of Ontario to return his administration, he stated Canada was the most prosperous country in the world, and that Ontario was its banner province. Now, he said, Conservatives were crying "blue ruin."

IT MAKES A GREAT DIFFERENCE.

APPARENTLY THE VANCOUVER
Daily Province is quite pleased to note that Premier Ramsay MacDonald has said that the principal business of the Imperial Conference "will have to be done without any thought of party politics at all." It makes much of this because Mr. Mackenzie King has suggested that it will make a difference whether Canada is represented at the London gatherings by a delegation led by himself or one led by Mr. Bennett.

Two conferences are to be held in London this fall, one is the Imperial Conference and the other is the Economic Conference. The latter is the more important, since its business will consist of a free and full discussion of the empire's trade and industry, and this conference has been called at the suggestion of none other than the present Prime Minister of Canada. But that is not the main reason why it makes a difference whether Mr. King or Mr. Bennett shall go to London. The reason is a much more vital one to the success of this gathering as far as Canada in particular is concerned.

If Mr. King shall be this country's principal representative, he will attend as the representative of the party which established the British preference in 1897, a policy in itself which has been responsible for the development of trade between Canada and the United Kingdom on a mutually profitable basis, a policy which has been extended from time to time, but at no time so extensively as by the Dunning budget. This insures that something like $250,000,000 worth of business will be diverted from the United States to British channels. Hence, Mr. King would enter the Economic Conference in a spirit of goodwill, eager to promote the object which all those who believe in the empire's capacity desire to see attained.

If Mr. Bennett shall go to London, he would go pledged to destroy the British preference and repudiate the Dunning budget by which concessions under the preference have been so substantially increased. This is the policy of his party, and he can not get away from it. He has proclaimed it on platforms all across the country ever since the present campaign began. His method is to "blast" his way into the British markets, to ignore completely the inexorable laws which govern trade between nation and nation. Into that conference he would take an atmosphere of ill-will.

Indeed it makes a very great difference who shall lead the Canadian delegation to the Imperial Conference and Economic Conferences.

THE ARTFUL DODGERS

"How in the world are we to get a court house in Victoria from a Liberal government when Mackenzie King has said he will not give five cents toward unemployment in a Conservative constituency?"—Mr. R. H. Pooley, Attorney-General of British Columbia, at the Conservative garden party on Wednesday afternoon.

THIS, OF COURSE, IS THE VERIEST
nonsense and Mr. Pooley knows it. The Dominion government has no more to do with building this province's courthouses than it has with paying Mr. Pooley's salary. Most people in Victoria will remember the assurances of the Attorney-General's party in 1928 that if the MacLean government were deposed for one headed by Dr. Tolmie, the old courthouse on Bastion Street soon would be replaced with a new building.

Mr. Pooley thus is trying to blame the Dominion government for the failure of the government of which he is a member to do something with which Ottawa has nothing to do.

This is part of a neat, but transparent, little stratagem by which the Tolmie government is trying to escape responsibility for its various violated pledges. It promised the electors that it would decrease taxation. It increased taxation—and now tries to put the blame on the Ottawa government.

It promised to decrease the debt. It has added many millions to the debt—and tries to pass the responsibility for its own financial failures to the Ottawa government.

It promised a job for everybody, to "bring the boys home," to "keep the home fires burning" (pet slogans), and now washes its hands of its responsibility for the economic conditions of the province it was elected to administer, and says this is the duty of the Ottawa government. When Dr. Tolmie was a member of the Ottawa government in 1921, that government on October 8 of that year, passed an Order-in-Council declaring that "unemployment relief always has been and must necessarily continue to be, primarily a municipal responsibility, and in the second instance the responsibility of the province."

The Tolmie government promised economy in administration and has broken the record for extravagance all along the line. This, we suppose, is the fault of the Ottawa government.

Dr. Tolmie's government promised to abolish patronage and broke that promise at the very first opportunity. We presume it blames the Ottawa government for that.

Unfortunately for this little stratagem it presumes too much upon the credulity of the public, whose memory is longer than Mr. Pooley thinks it is—or ought to be. Incidentally, we can assure the Attorney-General, as an item of topical news, that many Conservatives are going to vote for the great project of empire economic solidarity, instituted by the King government, without regard to any such narrow partisan considerations.

And there are many Conservatives, too, who are disgusted with the broken promises of the British Columbia government, especially in regard to fiscal policy, and who think the defeat of the candidates Mr. Pooley and his colleagues are now supporting would be a salutary lesson for the provincial government itself as well as for their own party generally. Such an experience might induce the local government to study more closely the welfare of this province instead of butting into a Dominion election campaign. "Passing the buck" from Victoria to Ottawa is no palliative for provincial tax increases, provincial deficits, and provincial debt enlargement and a batch of violated pledges.

Thus what the Tolmie government needs is a reverse or two at the hands of the electorate in its own interests as well as the interests of the province.

THROUGH IN A MINUTE

NOT FOR MANY YEARS HAS THE
British press manifested such interest in the empire as it has since the Dunning budget was introduced on May 1. One of the London newspapers just to hand carried the following headlines recently:

LORDS PASS BILL IN A MINUTE.
MANITOBA JUBILEE CELEBRATIONS.

The bill was the British North America Bill to confirm and validate the agreements entered into between the Dominion government and the western provinces for the return of their natural resources and, in the case of British Columbia, the gift of the railway lands and that part of the Peace River block which lies in this province. Here is the comment:

Let us pass the bill quickly and unanimously, said Lord Parmoor, speaking for the government, and so add importance to Manitoba's Diamond Jubilee celebrations on July 15. "Yes, let's," replied the Marquis of Salisbury, on behalf of the Conservative party, and Earl Beauchamp, on behalf of the Liberals. The second reading having been agreed to, the standing orders were suspended and the bill went through committee, was read a third time, and passed in the space of a minute.

It was quite natural, of course, that all parties in both the British House of Commons and the House of Lords should dispose of such a bill in short order.

WHAT THE PREFERENCE DID

WHAT ADVANTAGE CANADA HAS obtained since Sir Wilfrid Laurier instituted the British preference in 1897 is best understood by a consideration of the official statistics as contained in The Canada Year Book.

In 1890, for instance, this country's exports to the United Kingdom were valued at just a little more than $40,000,000, and our imports at more than $43,000,000, or a balance against Canada of $2,000,000. In the first fiscal year after the preference had gone into effect, our sales jumped to nearly $70,000,000, and purchases to a little more than $29,000,000, or a balance in our favor of practically $40,000,000—a substantial change in the situation in a very short time.

Then came the period of expansion under the Liberal administration which brought our exports to the United Kingdom up to nearly $150,000,000, with a large balance still in our favor. Here is reflected part of the business which resulted in the opening up of the prairie provinces, until, in 1929, a normal year, our exports had grown to nearly $432,000,000, and imports which left a balance in our favor of approximately $240,000,000. The fiscal year ending with last March, of course, was an abnormally short crop year, our sales of agricultural products to the United Kingdom falling off by something like $138,000,000 in value. As in the war years, therefore, the 1930 figures need not be considered, because they were affected by unusual circumstances.

The moral contained in the expansion of trade between Canada and Great Britain from 1897 until the outbreak of the war should be considered in conjunction with the expansion for which the Dunning budget has prepared the country. As the prairies came into their own during the first decade of the present century, so will the great empire to the north play its part between now and the middle of the century. It will play it effectively, however, only if the progressive policies of the King government are permitted to assist it.

The point to be remembered is that the northern country will be producing increasing quantities of grain from year to year. The Canadian people will be able to consume only a comparatively small amount of it. The rest will have to be disposed of in the markets of the world. The King government's policy is to arrange for a reasonable exchange of this grain for other commodities, whether by treaty, preference, or on any other basis. But that exchange is essential to Canada's progress, and what better inducement could this Dominion offer to Great Britain to take more of our agricultural products than by making it easier for British goods to enter the Canadian market?

It is this sure trade development which the Dunning budget promises. What Mr. Bennett has promised to do is "blast" his way to new business. That is a policy doomed to failure from the start.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

UNEMPLOYMENT AND PROTECTION

The Montreal Canada

The depression which is being experienced in every country to-day has barely had any effect on Canada. Mr. Bennett has no right to ignore this, yet he tries to make us believe that we are on the road to ruin. He does not argue honestly and when he promises to give work to those who are without it, he knows perfectly well that he cannot upset ordinary economic laws, and, above all, that he cannot increase the purchasing power of the Canadian population if he elects for a tariff policy which shuts foreign markets to our exports. Who is he going to get to buy our products, whether industrial or agricultural?

NO FOREIGN TRADE NEEDED

The Boston Transcript

(European economists are demanding tariff retaliation against the United States.) These writers assume that we derive so much profit from what we sell to Europe that we shall be forced by the loss of their markets to open our own markets more liberally to them. Of course this is not at all certain. There are certain American materials and foodstuffs which Europe cannot do without, and if Europe increases the difficulty of the importation of these things she will simply be taxing herself the more. In other words, America can stand the process better than Europe can. We might even face with some equanimity a total cessation of business with Europe.

A THOUGHT

Let not him that is deceived trust in vanity; for vanity shall be his recompense.—Job xv. 31.
People who are very vain are usually equally susceptible; and they who feel one thing acutely, will so feel another.—Bulwer-Lytton.

Loose Ends

They are rough in the Old Land—without the excuse of an election—Sir Henri becomes pessimistic—And a gentleman resents immortality.

By H. K. W.

WHEN MR. LLOYD GEORGE, speaking in the British Parliament, associated Mr. Baldwin with pigs, of which he is very fond, newspapers over there recalled that this was a very mild reference, and dug up the records of the past to show that much stronger terms were used in the good old days. By comparison they make our frontier parliamentary outbursts in this country seem peculiarly drab and respectable. It was recalled, for instance, that one Irish member was termed by a colleague "The young sea serpent from County Mayo." One of Britain's greatest statesmen was called "that reptile, Mr. Burke." Lord Randolph Churchill likened the Duke of Devonshire to a box constrictor. Joseph Chamberlain called Sir Henry Drummond Wolff Lord Randolph Churchill's "jackal." Our Canadian Parliament and our own Legislature seem to be sadly lacking in zoological knowledge of this sort.

THE PONDEROUS report which has been handed out over these latter days by the leaders of the two historic parties has been rather interesting; not because it is good but because it is so bad. It is so bad, indeed, that some of the better newspapers have been scolding them quite harshly. Mr. Lloyd George's remarks about pigs was produced by Mr. Baldwin's attack on Liberal candidates. "When I read it," said Mr. Lloyd George, "I said to myself, 'I am not surprised that Mr. Baldwin has always expressed a preference for the society of pigs.' Which is rather rough. But Mr. Baldwin was even rougher when he addressed himself to the task of rebuking Lord Rothermere. 'If,' said Mr. Baldwin, 'there were a revolution, Lord Rothermere would be the first man to go to the South of France.' This called for some snappy little reply, but all Lord Rothermere could think of to say was: 'All Mr. Baldwin's friends know that as the most abject of revolutionaries he would make off at top speed and seek refuge in Aix-les-Bains.' Which sounds like the familiar small boy's retort, 'You're another.' And these things, mind you, are said without the excuse of an election. They almost make me feel that we conduct our elections like gentlemen out here.

SIR HENRI DETERDING, head of the Royal Dutch Petroleum Company and the biggest oil man in the world, has lately been saying some very odd things about the economies of the United States. They should make good reading for politicians and others who are always trying to get this country to follow its neighbor in everything. Sir Henri says in the first place that the essential feature of the American economic system is mass production. But mass production inevitably leads to surplus, since the United States cannot use all it can produce with its efficient machinery. This, in turn, means unemployment, unless the surplus can be sold outside the United States. But, by a curious paradox, the United States, says Sir Henri, is doing everything possible to discourage its foreign trade. In the first place it wanted to get rid of the immigrant as a laborer and keep him as a customer in Europe to absorb the surplus of mass production. Just the opposite, however, is happening. American companies, unable to sell all their products in Europe, have gone there and opened branch factories, since European countries are replying to the United States tariff with tariffs of their own. In these branch factories American firms have employed their foreign-born workers who did not want to stay in the United States, and they have had to start them as customers for the surplus produced at home.

ALL ALONG the line Sir Henri says the same illogical process at work. Europe, he says, are moving out of their individual homes into apartments. And apartments, of course, consume less of the increasing production of American factories than the individual homes used to do. This, he says, is typical of the whole interesting circle—the American nation is producing more and more and is getting more and more incapable of using what it produces. In the end, Sir Henri concludes that men and nations can be paid for their work only by happiness in one form or another. So the problem of the United States, he asserts, is to find some way of enjoying its wealth, and getting paid for their work in happiness. Otherwise it may find that its work is being paid for in unhappiness, and the more it works the more unhappiness it will be paid. Already Sir Henri's theory has started a fierce controversy, and he is sure to be more and more controversial as he goes to a conclusion. Ordinary minds will find it interesting, even if they don't know what to believe.

A GENTLEMAN who was recently to me to-day, with broken heart. Apparently he did not appreciate his immortality in the least. This was the gentleman who was represented here as devoting all his spare time to the construction of a great stone wall on the shores of our lake, which, indeed, is quite true. "But, my boy," he said, "there were tears in his eyes, more of sorrow than of anger. 'You shouldn't have done it. How could you do it? Whatever made you write such a thing? Think of my reputation! Think of my business! Think of my wife and family! Have you no honor? Is there no limit to your carryings-on? Is my private life to be meat for your wretched column? Have you no sense of the 'decencies of life'? Is there nothing sacred from your prying eyes? If I were to read your column very often, I would lose all faith in the accuracy of newspapers. I would lose all faith in human nature itself." "Why," I said, "what was the matter with your story? Isn't it true that you're building a wall? Isn't it true that you spend all your spare time on it, and that you would rather be building your wall than earning your living?" "Yes," he said, "it is all true, but look, what you said." "What did I say?" I said. "Why," he said, "you said my wall was 200 feet long by four feet high. Why, dash it, man, you ought to have known better than that. It's a full five feet six inches high and 225 feet long if it's an inch. Your four-foot wall is a scurrilous libel, sir." And though I didn't tell him so, it's just a badly-buffed, tumbledown old wall anyway, and I hope it falls to pieces some day.

Rodier Sets Stage For Old-time Wools

Paris, July 25.—Something in the nature of a fashion experiment is the noteworthy representation of old-fashioned serge weaves in the new collection of Rodier. This material, disguised by different names, looks just like the same fabric popular for tailored and street frocks a decade ago.

Obviously serge is being tried out with a thought to its future importance. And if it proves interesting to the couture, it is certain to mean much by winter.

The artful simplicity of the tailored dress done in silk, silk and wool, and in wool alone, has given the weaver an opportunity to reinstate some of the adaptable old materials. Hence the reappearance of serge, very fine dress broadcloth and cashmere.

Rodier weaves for autumn and winter is the emphasis on broadcloth and broadcloth types of wool.

Smooth-surfaced fabrics have such charm as to threaten the rough tweed materials that have reigned for so long. Rough fabrics and multi-color mixtures are reserved for typical sports wear and form only a small group comparatively.

Monotone wools decidedly have the preference over two-tone and multi-color combinations. A fashion note to remember for fall.

While boucles are rough to the touch and also in many colors, they at least have more novelty than tweed types. Boucles fill a place in sports clothes, not necessarily large, yet having more style value than tweeds.

Smooth broadcloth, very fine, soft and extremely light in weight, is shown for dresses. Drap mousseline, as Rodier terms it, is the lightest wool fabric ever produced.

Some broadcloths are flecked with artificial silk and wool, and a coarse open pattern is streaked lengthwise with white artificial silk. A third unusual broadcloth has the appearance of a nubby tweed in multi-color, but the surface is smooth and glossy with nubs discernible underneath. Similarly there is a cloth in smooth surface with rough under effect and in two tones, combining artificial silk and wool.

Medium large loose serge in wool, allied with fine threads of natural silk and very lustrous, gives the effect of metal threads. A large coarse serge for coats and trousers in artificial silk run lengthwise.

Suitings on the order of men's wear cloth are characterized by the serge weave and an almost stiff and harsh in feel and texture. These are in monotone, two-tone and pencil stripes.

The boucles of sports genre include the fine weave in all-wool and two-tones; the slightly boucle type of artificial silk and wool, and a coarse open basket weave showing much boucle and in two or three colors.

Wool vells is one of the new fall materials with an impression of the old-fashioned cashmere and is shown in monotone. Again it is mixed with silk. For novelty's sake there is a monotone woolen with a crepe corded surface like diamonds, but the cords run lengthwise. This will be used in place of the familiar crepe.

Whether in monotone or allied with white or another color, wools for tailored frocks are in very thin weaves. Artificial silk and wool closely flecked with white cotton is a unique type of fabric.

A striking fine dress wool shows a small drop-stitch running lengthwise. For dresses only is an exceptionally fine all-silk duvetine, very thin, light and soft.

Assured a huge success is a grana material having cotton nubs and flecks in black and white. Other grana-like weaves are fine and loosely woven.

Suitings also appear in lengthwise white streaks of artificial silk combined with wool. Sometimes the surface of the wool is roughened by white artificial silk. A new version is one in which a twisted black and white thread runs through a contrasting coarse weave. The same material in a double face and nubby surface, yet soft, is sponsored in rose and blue, red and beige, black and white.

Smartened by a surface and sheen like broadcloth, being very smooth and glossy, new jerseys are a bidder for the jersey stitch is almost indistinguishable.

Many jerseys are striped in fancy design, either across or lengthwise. Some have woven design like hand-knit jerseys. Others are decorative with three-inch borders.

A very light wave weave combines wool with both natural and artificial silk. Jersey bearing a striking resemblance to broadcloth should prove an autumn favorite.

The polka dot bobs up in this weave in an arrangement of woven small white points. Flecks appear in natural silk and wool jersey. A very coarse monotone type is used by Agnes for hats.

Flecks in white, and in black and white are much used. Streaked surfaces are accomplished in white by means of cotton and silk as mentioned. Stripes are given prominence. Checks are seen but rarely in novelty forms and effects only.

WATER RIGHTS SOUGHT IN B.C.

Four new water notice applications have been filed with the Provincial Government seeking permission for storage of water, use of water, use and storage and diversion and use by British Columbia corporations.

The Creston Power Light and Telephone Company is applying for a license to take and use 200 cubic feet per second of water from the Goat River, which drains into the Kootenay River near Creston, B.C. The water will be used for power purposes.

The West Kootenay Power and Light Company seeks permission to use 5,000 cubic feet per second and to store 15,000 acre feet of water out of Kootenay River which drains into the Columbia River near Brilliant. It will be used for power purposes.

A license to use 36.8 cubic feet per second from Hainey River which flows into Howe Sound for the purpose of developing power for use in connection with a sulphate pulp mill and sawmill is sought by the Vancouver Craft Company.

The Vernon Irrigation district seeks permission to store 3,000 acre feet per annum of water out of Jones Creek to create a reservoir capable of flooding 180 acres of land for irrigation purposes.

MINIATURE GOLF COURSES BECOME HUGE INDUSTRY

Idea Started By Youthful New Yorkers Four Years Ago Spans Continent

25,000 Courses in America Offer Serious Competition to Movies

With the announcement that there will shortly be five miniature golf courses operating in the city, Victoria has definitely become a party to the latest "craze" sweeping the continent. According to advice received from New York it is even more than a passing fancy. "Major industry" is the term used by a prominent Gotham journal to describe this newest form of recreation which has taken such a hold on the United States public wherever it has been introduced.

Four years ago two young New Yorkers attempted to make the noon hour more attractive to lunching brokers in down-town Manhattan by building a little course with grass fairways and sand greens. A series of experiments resulted in the displacement of these materials by the cottonseed hulls used at the present time. The dwarf links spread to Long Beach and then to Florida and other southern resorts. Moving slowly at first, the vogue gathered speed and swept the country like a prairie fire. Two young men—Leadbetter and De Lano—had wisely taken the precaution to patent their idea. To-day, while still in their twenties, they are rich and growing richer. In the last five months their organization has sold patent permits to Australia, Germany, France and England. Royalties are pouring into the offices of the Miniature Golf Course of America Inc. from the 25,000 miniature courses on the continent.

To-day the vast pocket golf craze has reached such proportions that theatre magnates are feeling the effects of its competition as a bidder for the spare time of the United States public. Lately it was learned that Fox, Warner Bros. and Famous Players are negotiating for rights to equip certain of their houses with indoor golf courses and, in other cases, to construct courses adjacent to their theatre, eliminate "sidewalk standers," and hold the patrons for a second show.

Representatives of the Fox organization admitted lately that the first "Fox indoor country club" would be opened near Broadway late in August. On the Coast Fox already has an interest in several of the pigny courses located next to his theatres. The plight of the film men can be better realized when it is known that theatre attendance figures have suffered a drop of twenty-five per cent. when the celluloid has been opposed by the green cottonseed hulls of neighboring courses.

There have been unusual ramifications to the baby industry. Putters are ordered in lots of 100,000 and have become so scarce that club manufacturers have been forced to take the loft out of jiggers and driving irons to fill the needs of the miniature courses. Sawdust, it is reported, is becoming so scarce that sweeping compounds are being used instead and the price of cottonseed hulls has gone sky-high. Cheap golf balls are being turned out by the thousands and the demand for used balls has rapidly dwindled.

There are literally hundreds of courses in the larger cities where building figures have soared. The cottonseed is reported to have excellent weathering properties and many of the courses in the States have been able to keep open all the year round. Whether this will be possible in Canada remains to be seen, but, at any rate, Victoria is keeping right up to date in her amusements, as her five courses will indicate.

Charity Concert Will Be Offered By Arion Singers

To increase its charity fund, the Arion Club will present an open concert in front of the Parliament Buildings on Tuesday evening next. To-night and Monday next, the singers will rehearse for the event. The concert, scheduled for July 28, has been postponed.

THINK of it! 50% more of delicious Loganberry jam in 1/3 the time at less cost! These are some of the advantages Certo has over the old long-boil process. Use Certo with any fruit or any fruit juice from fresh or canned fruit. Your jellies and jams will have a sure set; flavour's not boiled away; never a waste because there's never a failure.

CERTO

- The natural jelling substance extracted from fruit.
- Makes 50% more jam or jelly at less cost per jar.
- Saves 1/3 the time. Saves the fruit flavour. Saves the fruit colour.
- Jells the juice that would have boiled away by the old (long-boil) method.

Wheat Carry Over Heavy at Vancouver

Vancouver, July 25.—Vancouver grain elevators will have a carry-over of 5,500,000 bushels of grain when the crop year closes July 31, according to figures prepared by the Vancouver Board of Harbor Commissioners to-day. Last year the carry-over was 4,970,000 bushels.

At 8 a.m. to-day the total exports for the crop year to date reached 48,140,905 bushels, compared with 44,741,722 bushels for the same period a year ago. Bookings for the balance of the month total 110,000 bushels and ships are in port to load 230,000 bushels.

Elevator stocks to-day were 8,487,378 bushels, with an additional 300,000 bushels en route.

Vancouver grain men estimate that the total Canadian carry-over will reach 100,000,000 bushels on July 31.

Howitzer Men To Leave For Sarcee On Boat To-morrow

Bound for Sarcee Camp, for their annual summer training, the 15th Heavy Battery, Canadian Artillery, under the command of Major Aubrey Kent, will leave Victoria to-morrow. The unit will go through its manoeuvres and drills until August 4, when it will start on its journey home.

Fred Williams, former sergeant with the 5th Heavy Battery, R.C.A., first instructor of the unit, will officiate as battery sergeant-major. Williams has a thorough knowledge of howitzer work and should prove of great assistance to the battery at Sarcee.

Canada and U.S. Now Control World Aluminum Industry

The aluminum industry continues to expand, according to the latest analysis of The Brookings Economic Service, Inc. The report continues: "This industry is not subject to severe competitive conditions. Being in the hands of a few strong, well-managed companies production has been held close to consumptive requirements."

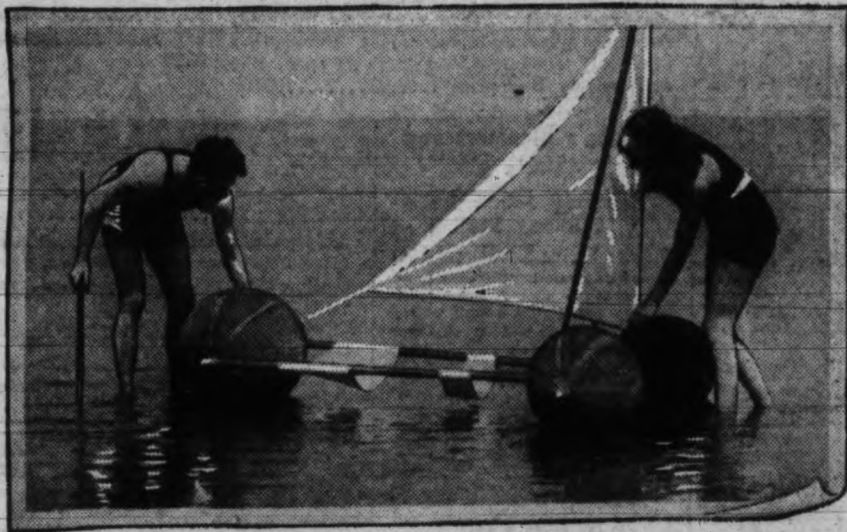

"World production increased from approximately 80,000 metric tons in 1921 to 262,000 in 1929, each year during the period showing an increase. Production in the United States, for the same period, expanded from approximately 35,000 to 102,000 metric tons. The Aluminum Company of America, and Aluminum Ltd. of Canada, formerly owned by Aluminum Company of America, are thought to control well over 80% of the world production. The United States output controlled by Aluminum Company of America accounts for over 55% of the world's supply."

"The development of new markets for aluminum is largely responsible for the maintenance of prices at profitable levels despite the tremendous increase in production mentioned. There were no price reductions from December, 1927 until June, 1929 when the price for No. 1 aluminum ingots, 99 to 99.5, was reduced to 23.9 cents from 23.9 cents per pound. This reduction offers an advantage outside competitors would have gained from the recent reduction of 1 cent per pound in the tariff on aluminum. We regard the reduction in tariff as of little significance."

"There are several things which make it appear that consumption of aluminum this year will increase little, if any, as compared with 1929. Automobile output will show a recession. Copper prices have been reduced until substitution of aluminum will be checked. Reduced industrial operations will result in smaller demand from miscellaneous sources."

"The long-term outlook for the aluminum industry, however, is exceptionally bright."

Yours to keep Moments like this should never pass without a KODAK picture

EVERY day, incidents or scenes that you encounter stir your interest. Left to memory, they soon vanish. But, caught with a Kodak they are yours to keep—a part of the pattern of your life.

Not only week-end and holiday excitement, but all the trivial details that win your attention—capture these in pictures. Years hence they'll be such expressive reminders that today, long past, will still be yours. Start your collection of pictures now.

Kodak has brought the best of picture-taking equipment within the reach of everyone. The No. 1 Pocket Kodak Junior at $9.25 is an example. It comes in three attractive colours as well as black, and takes fine pictures size 2 1/4 x 3 1/4. Carrying case to match, $2.50. No. 1A Pocket Kodak Junior, which takes pictures 2 1/4 x 4 1/4, is $10.25. Carrying case to match, $3.00. See these beautiful new models today at your Kodak dealer's.

And when you buy film, look for the familiar yellow box which identifies genuine Kodak Film. It's speedy. It's rangy. It's dependable. It gets the picture.

THRILLING SCENES IN EVACUATION OF RHINELAND

NEAPOLITANS ALARMED BY WINDSTORM

Hurricane To-day Adds to Fears Following Great Earthquake of Yesterday

By Andre Berding, Associated Press Staff Writer

Naples, Italy, July 25.—A hurricane which at times kicked up what resembled a tidal wave struck Naples between 8 and 9 a.m. yesterday just after most Neapolitans, shaken by Tuesday's earthquakes, were convinced their scores were over for the present. One large wave pounded over the embankment into the road along the sea.

At the time the strong wind blew down trees and fragile summer cottages along the coast.

BLEST OUT OF DOORS

The residents were still nervous over the earthquake and were badly frightened by the newest outburst of nature. Many of them had spent a restless night in the parks and public squares, afraid to return to their homes because of the possibility of new quakes.

Fishing smacks with their colorful sails had to point their noses hastily northward in order to escape damage.

SOLDIERS GUARD BUILDINGS

Naples yesterday had appearance of a city under war-time regime, with soldiers guarding the damaged buildings to ward off the curious and flags flying everywhere at half-mast.

An impressive funeral was held for the four persons who died in Naples as a result of the quake and in commemoration of the two who were killed at Salerno and one at Traini.

Cardinal Ascalesi, Archbishop of Naples, at the conclusion of the service brought a silver bust of St. Gennaro, the city's patron, to the steps of the cathedral and blessed the great crowd which had assembled to mourn for the victims.

GANG HUNTED AFTER DEATH OF RADIO MAN

Detroit Police Seek Slayers of Buckley, Announcer

Detroit, July 25.—The police department yesterday started a "Black Leo" hunt and his gangster followers, notorious river characters, were being sought in connection with the killing of Jerry Buckley, radio announcer.

Detectives working on the case advanced the theory Buckley was shot down by members of this gang because they believed him responsible for the failure to "fix" the cases of two of their number now serving terms in a Canadian prison.

According to the newest police theory, $4,000 was paid in a futile attempt to keep Frank Cammarlet, notorious Detroit gangster, and Thomas Licaoui from being sent to jail in 1927 at Kingston, Ont., for three years for possessing firearms in Windsor.

The detectives believe the gangsters blamed Buckley, feeling a "double cross" had taken place somewhere along the line.

NO AFFIDAVIT

The Detroit News says Police Commissioner Thomas C. Wilcox admitted his statement that he had an affidavit accusing Jerry Buckley, slain radio announcer, of receiving $4,000 from a racketeer was false.

The commissioner was approached by a representative of the newspaper with a request to see the affidavit. The News said, and after a number of questions had been put to him for hours, he had no such affidavit "as yet."

HEENAN SPEAKS IN TOWNS IN WEST ONTARIO

Kenora, Ont., July 25.—Hon. Peter Heenan, Federal Minister of Labor, yesterday evening took issue with Mayor Ralph H. Webb of Winnipeg, on statements with regard to a western unemployment delegation which met Premier King last winter.

He denied the delegates had been crowded into a hot room and kept waiting for hours. He said they could have had another room if they wished and said the meeting had begun within a few minutes of the time set.

"I believe Mr. Webb's complaint is the first of its kind during the whole of Mr. King's term of office," said Mr. Heenan. "The delegates on the occasion in question were given every opportunity and encouragement to voice their views and they were unanimous at the interview in thanking the government for the arrangements made."

During the course of the day, the Minister of Labor addressed meetings at Wabigoon, Shallow Lake and Cairnbrook, Ont.

BURNABY NOW IS LISTING ITS UNEMPLOYED

Vancouver, July 25.—Burnaby has commenced registering its unemployed, both men and women over the age of sixteen, in an effort to obtain information of value to any conference called to deal with this problem.

A complete census of unemployed workers within the municipality is sought by the Municipal Council, co-operating with the Burnaby Public Welfare Council within the next few days.

The information gained from this survey, one of the first of such scope to be undertaken by any western city or municipality, will provide not only the names and addresses of those unemployed, but the time which they have been out of work, their nationality and the length of their residence in Canada.

Officials and volunteer workers have been enlisted to take the census. At sixteen stations census cards for recording the required data have been placed.

Now's she hittin'

By ISRAEL KLEIN

Most of our automotive instruction books warn us when to have the valves of our engines ground and to see that accumulated carbon is scraped out of the cylinders and that our spark plugs operate properly.

Trouble is we generally forget our instructions before reaching the first 1,000 miles, and so we go on driving until the engine balks.

It begins to miss, and we're up in the air for lack of knowing what to do. Looking again at our instruction book, we find that knowing what to do in this case is rather a simple matter.

First, to find the miss—or missing cylinder.

That's merely a matter of shorting the spark plugs. In nine cases out of ten, a wooden-handled screw driver is used. It is applied at each spark plug, so that the steel end of the short connection between the top of the spark plug and the cylinder head.

If this act slows up the motor still further, it is a sign that that spark plug is hitting properly, and the search may go on to the next plug.

It then is a matter of taking out the plug, cleaning it thoroughly with gasoline, setting the points so that they will be a thin dime's thickness apart, and replacing it.

If the engine continues to miss, the trouble might be in the distributor. The cables at the casing might be shortened, due to dampness or to the rotting of the insulation. They should be inspected and kept fully insulated from one another.

Sometimes moisture, after a car is washed, gets into the distributor, especially if the casing isn't moisture proof. Mere drying out would correct that fault, but to prevent a recurrence it might be best to pour some sealing wax over the distributor terminals on top.

Otherwise a brush may make poor contact in the distributor or there may be poor contact from rotor spring to centre terminal. Tightening may help, but this part may require replacement.

In case of further trouble, especially if missing is irregular, we might look to the compression. If the car doesn't pull well, it seems to be "slopping" along too easily and there's no "feel" of a pull at the wheel, you may be assured the engine's compression is at fault.

That means, generally, the valves need grinding and resetting. Carbon needs to be scraped and perhaps the pistons require new rings. The last, however, doesn't happen often unless the car isn't oiled regularly and is otherwise abused.

If the motor is missing irregularly and the ignition is found in good order from distributor to spark plug, the trouble might lie in poor adjustment of the carburetor. A poor mixture might cause trouble.

Carburetor adjustment, however, usually stays put either for summer or winter driving, and should not be tampered with.

WOMAN SHOT BY LADY OWEN IN LOVE TRIANGLE

Widow of Sir Theodore Owen Infatuated with Doctor; Shoots Wife

Maryleu, France, July 25.—Lady Owen, beautiful and wealthy titled woman, was held in Versailles prison to-day under charges of shooting and wounding the wife of Dr. Paul Gastaud, widely known Paris radiologist. Lady Owen, the French-born widow of Sir Theodore Charles Owen, shot Mme. Gastaud as the climax of a triangular drama. About a year ago, they explained, Lady Owen became a patient of Dr. Gastaud and an attachment grew between them. The police alleged Dr. Gastaud promised to divorce his wife and marry Lady Owen, but changed his mind and yesterday told Lady Owen of his intention to break with her. At first she appeared resigned, but later told Dr. Gastaud's partner, Dr. Bernard, she meant to shoot Mme. Gastaud. He hastened to the Gastaud Maryleu residence, arriving in advance of Lady Owen. When she reached the house he reasoned with her and she appeared impressed, agreeing to leave if permitted to see Mme. Gastaud. Just then the physician's wife entered, police said, and Lady Owen fired five shots from a revolver concealed in her scarf. Four bullets took effect. Lady Owen then asked Dr. Bernard to call the gendarmes. Mme. Gastaud's condition to-day was grave, but it was believed she had a chance for recovery. Lady Owen is thirty-four years old, the daughter of a French naval officer. Mme. Gastaud is forty-two.

GRANDMA MAYOR HITS BLUE LAW

Mrs. Penelope Jones, sixty-three, "grandma mayor" of Lake Milton, Ohio, is ready to sweep the town clean of crime, but she hasn't any use for reformers who oppose Sunday dancing. Her first official act was to lift the official ban on dancing on that day, and what's more she says she'll show the young folks "how to step."

DAUGHTER OF FORMER LOCAL PASTOR BRIDE

Miss Annie Marguerite Wilkin-son Wed to Dr. H. J. Hocking in Vancouver

Vancouver, July 25.—Ryerson United Church was the scene on Wednesday evening of a pretty ceremony when Annie Marguerite, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Robert Wilkin of North Vancouver, formerly of Victoria, became the bride of Dr. Humphrey John Hocking of Prince George, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Hocking of Portland. The bride entered the church with her father and was received by Rev. E. D. Braden, pastor of the church. Rev. Mr. Wilkinson taking charge of the service. The bridegroom was of ivory more silk, and the necktie formed a deep V, and the skirt was flared from just above the knee. The white net veil was worn cap style, insertions of net lace in the back of the veil adding distinction. It was very long and orange blossoms were attached to the extreme corners. The bride's shoes were of ivory crepe and she carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and baby flowers. Miss Eleanor Parfitt of Victoria attended as bridesmaid, her dress of coral-colored georgette being made in empire style, with small tulle frills, and a deep V-neck filled in with the same. The groom's dress was of white with matching net. Little clusters of mauve flowers ornamented the neckline, and from the back the streamers of a bow of yellow velvet extended to the hemline. Her hat was of yellow mohair turned sharply off the face, a yellow bow with mauve flowers being attached to the drooping brim. She carried a shower bouquet of mauve sweet peas and lily of the valley. Miss Joan Stevens, niece of the bride, and Miss Lillian Parfitt, the groom's niece, were flower girls, wearing dresses of net over tulle in green and mauve, respectively, and they wore shirred net bonnets to match. Each carried a nosegay of pink and baby flowers. Dr. Douglas Sutherland was groomsmen, and the ushers were Mr. Douglas Smith and Mr. James Hanbury of Victoria. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mrs. F. H. Stevens, West Thirty-seventh, when the bride party, receiving under a white latticed arch trimmed with ivy and flanked with baskets of flowers, were assisted by Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Robert Wilkin and Mrs. F. Farrow. Mrs. Stevens was in yellow georgette and net, with a matching mohair hat and carrying mauve sweet peas. Mrs. Wilkin wore a dress of lavender georgette and a two-toned mauve lace hat, her corsage bouquet being of pink sweet peas, and Mrs. Farrow's gown was sand georgette with which she wore a matching hat and carried pink sweet peas. Pink and mauve was the color scheme of the flowers throughout the rooms, and the three-tier wedding cake on the bride's table was embedded in mauve tulle. Miss Eileen Guild of Prince Albert was in charge of the dining-room, where Mrs. A. Parfitt of Victoria and Mrs. Charles Tanner presided at the urns. Mrs. James Hendrie of Victoria cut the ices, and assisting were Miss Katherine Reid, Miss Marjorie Bell, Miss Eileen Hocking, Miss Doris Radwell, Miss Kathleen Clark and Mrs. A. Armour. Dr. and Mrs. Hocking left shortly afterwards on a month's motor trip to Southern California, after which they will reside in Prince George. For traveling the bride chose a royal blue bramble knit suit with a stitched silk hat of the same shade, and shoes, gloves and bag of grey.

Famed Tea Service Of Earl Balfour Up at Christie's

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times. London, July 25.—Next month there is to be sold at Christie's a remarkable dinner service, which was the property of the late Earl of Balfour. The service was made for his grandfather, James Balfour, who died in 1843, and it will probably prove one of the heaviest dinner services ever offered at an auction sale. The ornamentation is of gadrooned shell and foliage borders, engraved with the arms of Balfour impaling Maitland. The Maitland arms came in because James Balfour married Lady Eleanor Maitland, daughter of James, eighth Earl of Lauderdale. The service consists of no fewer than 198 items, including 100 dinner plates. Many of the articles were made by Paul Storr between 1800 and 1814, but eighteen soup plates date back to 1749. The inclusion of a tea-urn in the dinner service seems curious, until it is remembered that in many parts of the country a cup of tea after dinner is still preferred to coffee.

Sir Henry Thornton Visits Jasper Park

Jasper Park Lodge, July 25.—Sir Henry Thornton, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, passed through here on his night route to the east from Fuyu Rupert and Alaska. He is expected to visit Edmonton, Calgary, Saskatoon and Winnipeg on his way to Montreal.

Mother Arrested After Daughter Burned to Death

Long Beach, Cal., July 25.—Miss Berrie M. Havel, forty, an invalid school teacher, was burned to death in her home here late to-day and several hours afterward, her mother, Mrs. Jennie Davidson, seventy-two, was arrested by police when they failed to obtain a coherent story from her.

Authors Spending Hot Days Thinking Up New Murder Plots

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times. London, July 25.—Mr. Chesterton confesses that one of his literary relaxations these days is that of inventing new and ingenious types of murder, as well as discovering a fresh place to hide the corpse. Miss Dorothy Sayers, for example, in "Unnatural Death," conceived a nurse who poisoned her patient with literally nothing! She gave her an injection from an empty hypodermic needle, which interfered with the circulation and caused death immediately, leaving no traces. An American detective story-writer stabbed his victim with a piece of ice, and Mrs. Agatha Christie brought about the necessary corpse simply by allowing the sediment to settle to the bottom of a medicine bottle.

At the beginning of the meeting here little Rita McCaffrey carried up a beautiful bouquet of crimson roses, the third the Prime Minister had received during the day, and was rewarded with a kiss.

At the outset of his address Premier King expressed appreciation of the civic welcome accorded him and of all the kindness he had received since coming to Stratford. He also thanked the Ontario Twentieth Century Club for its gift.

HOW TO MANAGE SCHEDULES FOR TWO INFANTS

Quite often the mother of an infant has children that are at the runabout stage. When this is the situation, it may keep the mother "hopping," but the older child can competently feed himself, and manage fairly well in many of the situations which formerly demanded the mother's help. It is a decidedly more complicated when a new infant arrives before the other is one year old. A young mother asks help in planning a schedule for two children, one an infant and the other eleven months. It is hoped that the following will prove helpful in this unusual emergency.

SCHEDULE FOR TWO INFANTS

It is preferable to advance the year old to a three-meal-a-day schedule and the infant to a four-meal-a-day one. This allows for a long nap at ten for the infant, a short nap from three to four, and a long nap from twelve to two-thirty for the year old.

6.00 a.m.—Breast or bottle feed infant.

6.30 a.m.—Dress year old.

7.00 a.m.—Breakfast for year old. Put in pen to play.

7.30 a.m.—Toilet for year old. (Two hours can be devoted to housework.)

8.30 a.m.—Prepare bath for infant. Give year old orange juice. Bathe infant.

10.00 a.m.—Nurse baby and put him down for long morning nap.

11.00 a.m.—Bath for year old. Bring year old wherever mother is working and entertain him with kitchen playthings.

11.30 a.m.—Bath for year old.

12.00 noon—Family lunch. Year old eats at this time, too. Put to bed after lunch for long nap.

(With both babies asleep the mother should snatch this opportunity for a rest period. She can put a sign, "Do not disturb," and adhere to this period from 12.30 to 1.30 for a much-needed rest.)

1.30 p.m.—Better nurse patient mother because of it. See that neighbors co-operate. When both babies awaken, take them outdoors.

2.00 p.m.—Nurse infant.

4.00 p.m.—Cup of milk and two crackers for year old. Drink of water for infant.

5.30 p.m.—Undress both babies and put them into nightgowns. Let them play on bed undressed for a half hour.

6.00 p.m.—Nurse infant and put in bed.

6.30 p.m.—Family dinner. Year old should be put to bed directly after dinner.

A schedule such as this should keep both babies to regular habits and offer sufficient time in the day for the mother to accomplish necessary household tasks. We hope, for her sake, that she can have help.

the present condition, but in respect to the way the Federal Government had regarded it for some time past.

His government had felt that the people who should first be taken care of were the aged. Therefore, the government had brought in the old age pension legislation.

There had been some criticism of the government by Premier Ferguson of Ontario.

"Never mind him, King," sang out someone in the crowd.

Mr. King joined in the laugh that followed.

He went on to say the government had met with opposition for the Conservatives, but eventually the legislation had gone through. Ontario, said Mr. King, was the only provincial government which did not pay its entire half of the cost of old age pensions.

But had made good—part of it on to the municipalities.

FERGUSON'S TACTICS

Dealing with the Ontario unemployment question, Premier King, driving home his statements with great emphasis, charged that Premier Ferguson of Ontario had directed his efforts "not to assist unemployment, but to keep men unemployed."

"Some whole business has been deception from the very start," he declared.

Machine politics, he continued, now ruled in the city of Toronto. "In that city now you have a situation in which no one dares speak his frank mind for fear of incurring the opprobrium of those who control the political machine," he said.

He asked his audience if it wished such a condition to grow up in Canada. It had been the curse of the United States.

Mr. King said Mr. Ferguson had held up expenditures on roads in order to influence voters.

The Legislature of Ontario had voted $10,000,000 for road building this year, he said.

"What did Mr. Ferguson do with it?" asked Premier King. "Did he use that ten million to help the unemployed when they needed work? Not a bit of it. He kept that money in the treasury until five days ago when he sent agents through Northern Ontario to find out where it could be used." And having found out, continued the Prime Minister, the money was expended in putting men on the payroll "to get votes for the Conservative Party in the present campaign."

WILL DECIDE JULY 28

"I would rather go down to defeat a thousand times than gain power by these methods," the Prime Minister declared amidst loud applause. But he added the people of Canada had taken the measure of Mr. Ferguson and would express their views on July 28.

Mr. Ferguson was seeking monopoly of political control, Mr. King continued. That was the Tory doctrine at present.

"I have a perfect contempt for the Tories," the Premier said, as he drew a contrast between the typical "Tory" and the typical "Conservative," and he added, "Mr. Ferguson is a Tory of the Tories."

DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR

"I have never at any time said this government would not contribute to unemployment relief," asserted Mr.

King. He repeated his offer of dollar for dollar assistance to provinces and municipalities.

"Up to the present time, though I have spoken of this in Ontario, I have not received from the government of this province any request in accordance with the order-in-council," Mr. King said.

WHERE ARE LEADERS?

There was a curious thing about this election campaign, Mr. King asserted. In addition to Mr. Bennett, only three of the leading Conservatives formerly in Parliament were taking an active part.

These three were Mr. Stevens, "who is having the fight of his life in Vancouver," Mr. Guthrie and Dr. Manion. The last two named were "Tory leaders who had gone back on Liberalism."

"These are the men on whom Mr. Bennett is relying on in this campaign," Mr. King said. "These are Mr. Ferguson."

Conservatives were not participating generally, he said.

"The needs of the men who are unemployed have been exploited mercilessly by the Tories," Mr. King declared. He had made his offer of financial assistance by the Dominion across Canada, and thus far it had not been accepted, he said.

This statement by the Prime Minister on unemployment came as an interjection by a man in the audience.

CANDIDATE SPEAKS

Premier King's address was preceded by a brief speech by Fred G. Sanderson, ex-member for South Perth and again a candidate in the constituency.

"Mr. Ferguson has almost overshadowed Mr. Bennett," he said. "Mr. Ferguson enjoyed 'wielding the big stick,' but he had better be careful. Mr. Sanderson said, or he 'will hit Mr. Bennett.'"

He asked whether Premier Ferguson was thinking of the unemployed when he raised the salaries of his ministers at the last session of the Legislature. He thought perhaps Mr. Ferguson had put through the increases in order that his ministers "might have some spending money during the present campaign."

ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY

Tilbury, Ont., July 24.—A charge that Premier G. Howard Ferguson of Ontario had been deliberately delaying negotiations for construction of the St. Lawrence waterway, coupled with a definite declaration that the Federal government proposed to go ahead with the project immediately if returned to power, featured a speech delivered by Premier King before an outdoor audience of 6,000 here yesterday afternoon.

"Mr. Ferguson has been playing politics all the way through," said the Prime Minister in respect to the St. Lawrence negotiations. He said Mr. Ferguson and Hon. A. B. Bennett, Federal Conservative leader, had planned to delay negotiations between the province and the Dominion until they could make the St. Lawrence a campaign issue.

He had wondered, at times, said the Prime Minister why it was so difficult to reach common ground with Premier Ferguson on the questions at issue with respect to the St. Lawrence. He asked his audience if it did not think a government which had settled "ward questions throughout Canada, such as the return of the natural resources to the western provinces and the maritime claims, would not have been able also to adjust the St. Lawrence question if Premier Ferguson had honestly desired to have a settlement."

Mr. Ferguson, he said, had been playing another game.

WILL START CONSTRUCTION

Now, asserted the Prime Minister, the Federal government had made up its mind there should be some action. "We don't intend to have the St. Lawrence waterways held up any longer for Mr. Ferguson," he declared, while the crowd cheered and applauded. One of the first things the government would do if returned to power would be to go ahead with the project. "And we will do it in spite of Mr. Ferguson," added Mr. King. The rights of the provinces would be safeguarded, he said, but the work would go on.

SNOKE SCREENS

The Prime Minister said Premier Ferguson of Ontario, was bringing forward a variety of campaign issues and the were at variance with the issue of Mr. Bennett.

"They are resorting to all kinds of subterfuges to keep the minds of the public off the great trade issue," the Premier declared.

Mr. Ferguson wanted political control, said Mr. King. "He wants to have all the governments, not only of the provinces, but of the Dominion and even the municipalities, Tory Governments," Mr. King continued. "If that should happen what about our Liberty?" He objected to the Premier of Ontario using the power of the government of Ontario in an effort to defeat another government.

FERGUSON'S PROPAGANDA
The Prime Minister quoted from the paper called The Canadian Labor Press. He said that paper had been issuing all kinds of propaganda against the Federal Government. Neither the American Federation of Labor nor the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress endorsed the paper. It was not an official paper of Canadian Labor. But, asked Mr. King, how was this paper paid for? All through it were advertisements of the Provincial Government of Ontario, he said.

"These provincial ministers are advertising in this paper," Mr. King declared. Public money taken from the people of Ontario, he said, was being used in the circulation of false political propaganda in an effort to defeat the government. Mr. King asked the people to raise and defeat this effort.

The Prime Minister was presented with a bouquet of flowers and a basket of fruit, the presentations being made by a group of young women before the meeting opened.

England Makes Good Start In Fourth Test Match

Captures Five Of Ausies' Wickets For Total Of 192

Australia Wins Toss and W. M. Woodfull and W. H. Ponsford Put on Over 100 Runs; Don Bradman Dismissed for Small Score; England Uses All Her Bowlers; 30,000 Attend After Lunch Interval.

Canadian Press

Manchester, Eng., July 25.—England made a good start in the fourth cricket test match with Australia at the old Trafford grounds to-day. At the tea interval England had captured five Australian wickets for 192 runs.

W. M. Woodfull, the Australian captain, won the toss and sent in his team to bat first. Woodfull and W. H. Ponsford put on over 100 runs for the first wicket. Australia lost Don Bradman, their greatest batsman, for a small score.

England's hopes of picking up a wicket or two before lunch were dashed. Chapman tried all his bowlers, bringing on Hammond and Leyland at intervals to give the bowling the greatest possible variety, but Woodfull and Ponsford refused to be rattled.

The crowd though Ponsford had been dismissed when he hit a hard ball to Chapman at mid off Leyland, Ponsford thought so too, as he left the wicket. The umpire sent him back, ruling it as a run-out. At this stage Woodfull had scored 37, Ponsford 30, while extras accounted for eight of the Australian total.

30,000 PRESENT

After lunch the attendance rose to 30,000 people. Peebles and Tate returned the English attack. The foot-hold was still bad and Peebles was no batted. Woodfull opened up on him and hit him for four and a four and a three in the next over. Ponsford sent up the 100 on a single off Tate.

Tate was again making the ball hit viciously, and thirty minutes after lunch Woodfull was fooled by one of these offerings. It touched the shoulder of his bat and Duckworth made a fine catch at the wicket. Woodfull had scored 44.

The teams were: England—A. P. F. Chapman, captain; Prince Duleep Singh, T. W. Goddard, A. B. Peebles, Jack Hobbs, Herbert Sutcliffe, Wally Hammond, Maurice Tate, Maurice Leyland, George Duckworth, and M. S. Nichols; Pat Hendren twelfth man.

Australia—W. M. Woodfull, captain; W. H. Ponsford, Don Bradman, A. P. Kippax, W. A. Oldfield, C. Grimmett, V. J. Richardson, T. Wall, P. M. Hornbrook, I. McCabe and A. Fairfax; A. Jackson twelfth man.

SOFTBALLERS IN KNOCKOUT TOURNAMENT

Jokers, Moore & Whittington and Colwood Win First Round in Westholme League

Jokers, Moore & Whittington, and Colwood Wood Co. were the winners in the first round of the Westholme Softball League's knockout series played yesterday evening. As a consequence they advanced to the semi-final round to be played next week.

The league champion Jokers scored a clean cut win over the "Y" squad by 6 to 1, while Moore & Whittington were victorious by 12 to 3, and Colwood were winning the tightest game of the evening from the morning paper, 3 to 1.

Most of the clouting was seen in the Times-Moore & Whittington encounter with Bob Nicol lining out two threeply clouts and Thom connecting with another. Thomas hit for the circuit, while Sweeney did the same for the Jokers.

In the next round Jokers meet Colwood, Moore & Whittington drawing the bye.

The LIFE STORY of MAX SCHMELING

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the third of a series of six articles on the life of Max Schmeling and his career in Germany.

Jack Dempsey, the greatest champion of all, rode to fame and fortune on the braver of box cars. Max Schmeling, the German boy, who looks like Dempsey, started his rise in much the same way.

In Germany, the hobo takes to the open road. "I was a tramp," Schmeling confesses, with a full appreciation of what that word means in English.

The roads of Germany are good winding highways and the ones leading through the gorgeous valley of the Rhine usually hold the most interest for the tramp. The people of southern Germany are noted for their hospitality and Max had little trouble making his way.

CINCINNATI. One day he chanced across a tiny circus that was scraping along on the few pennies the war-ridden Dorfers had to lay out for amusement. The very first thing that caught the attention of the young man was the one-man athletic show. Here was the stuff for Max Schmeling's boy. Here was the thing that set his eyes to blinking and caused his wide nostrils to quiver—just as they were to blink and quiver on the night at Yankee stadium, when big Jack Sharkey was to

Old Country Cricket

London, July 25.—Second day scores in English cricket matches were: Surrey vs. Derbyshire, at the Kensington Oval—Derby, 148 and 162 for one wicket; Surrey, 158.

Essex vs. Lancashire, at Leyton—Lancs, 261 for eight wickets, declared; Essex, 47 runs for three wickets. Rain stopped play after the tea interval.

Worcestershire vs. Hampshire, at Bourne—Worcestershire, 463 for nine wickets, declared; Hampshire, 148 for three wickets.

Sussex vs. Nottinghamshire, at Brighton—Sussex, 335; Nottingham, 321 for nine wickets.

Middlesex vs. Warwickshire, at Birmingham—Middlesex, 307 for seven wickets.

No play was possible due to rain in the following matches: Yorkshire vs. Northamptonshire, at Harrogate; Leicestershire vs. Glamorgan, at Leicester; Kent vs. Somerset at Maidstone.

Max became very clubby with the immediate strong man, who dandled the villagers with weight lifting performances. The man took a liking to Max and hired him as aid. Pretty soon Max was in the act. He worked up a swell trick of letting an automobile run over his hairy chest.

The stunt always got a big hand and Max would grin and bow like a Cheshire cat.

THIS WAS "BIG STUFF" for Schmeling, and he worked diligently at the weights, with the dream of building himself into such a specimen he would be able to stand the yokels by being the piece-de-resistance for a full-sized truck.

Circus life, however, was not long for Schmeling. When the show hit Cologne, the few wretched wagons and the toothless lion were attached to the circus and he was made himself useful.

Shortly after his arrival, Max located a centre of interest for his spare hours. Some of the gang took him to see the sport at the Mulheim boxing club.

Cowichan Cricket Club Wins Fixture

Duncan, July 23.—In the second cricket match of the series to be played this week the Cowichan Cricket Club emerged victorious over Alec Gillespie's eleven of Victoria, by 48 runs. Winning the toss the skipper of the home eleven elected to bat and amassed the total of 181 runs. Dunlop 38, Wilton 35, Jobling 17, Leggett 15, Williams 2 for 21 and Giddy 2 for 33 had the best analyses.

Arthur Newton And Pete Gavuzzi Win

St. Anne de la Perade, Que., July 25.—Arthur Newton, Rhodesia, and Pete Gavuzzi, Southampton, England, won the fifth lap from Quebec to St. Anne de la Perade of the international 100-mile relay race yesterday. They gained fourteen minutes. Their lead in the total elapsed times for the five days over Joe Ray and Johnny Sato, second, is 1 hour and 45 minutes, 50 seconds.

Unless something unforeseen happens it seems as though they have the race already won.

Within a week Max defeated two of the town's leading strongmen. Max was in earnest now and worked hard to improve his knowledge of boxing. But he was primarily a fighter and got by in good shape by running and slugging.

GETS SETBACK. At Cincinnati in 1924, a great amateur tournament was staged, where fighters from all parts of Germany competed.

Max was through the preliminary and semi-finals until only he and Otto Nispi remained undefeated. Nispi had been fighting longer than Max and knew how to propel a left hand. Even though Nispi didn't land a solid smack, the left hand got the decision.

Max wasn't discouraged. He was eager for more of the fun, but the feeling was irregular in the amateur business. No good watches were being given to the amateurs in Germany.

So Max decided to turn pro and put a big sport from Cologne. Abe asked the Schlager what type of foeman he would like to meet in his first professional fight. Max said he didn't care as long as the fellow liked "schlagen."

Abe picked him out a nice tough baby with a huge cauliflower ear. His name was Otto Czapp.

Brooklyn Splits Double-header To Retain Slim Lead

Robins Win Second Game of Twin Bill With Cincinnati to Keep Half a Game Ahead of Chicago in National League Race Beat Philadelphia, 19 to 15, in Slugging Bee; Lindstrom's Home Run Wins for Giants; Babe Ruth Hits Number Thirty-six to Help Yanks Win.

Ray Kolp, Cincinnati pitcher, hit a home run in the second inning of the first game between the Reds and the Brooklyn Robins yesterday to give Cincinnati a 3 to 0 lead and with one later run was enough to win the contest, 4 to 3. Brooklyn came back and took the second game, 9 to 0, before rain stopped them in the sixth inning. Thus the Robins remained in the National League lead a half game ahead of Chicago.

The Cubs were unhampered by the weather at Philadelphia and after two and one-quarter hours of slugging, came out ahead by a 19 to 15 score. The storm gave the New York Giants a 1 to 0 triumph over Pittsburgh, however. The Giants had a homer by Fred Lindstrom left from the first inning while the Pirates, after getting only one hit off Carl Hubbell in six frames, had the bases full in the seventh when the game was stopped.

Boston's Braves beat St. Louis, 5 to 4, and finally broke the sixth place tie with Cincinnati. Babe Ruth clouted his thirty-sixth homer of the year as the Yankees defeated the Detroit Tigers 5 to 2.

RUTH AWAY AHEAD. The clout put Ruth twelve games ahead of his 1928 pace. Jimmy Fox slammed out his twenty-seventh homer in the ninth inning, with the score tied and gave Philadelphia an 8 to 6 triumph over Cleveland. It also put the "A's" five games ahead of the tottering Washington Senators, who were victims of an uprising on the part of the Chicago White Sox and lost a 19 to 4 decision.

Boston Red Sox threatened to make another change in the American League standing, coming within half a game of St. Louis with an 8 to 1 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

THE ROYAL TRUST COMPANY Real Estate Department Belmont House Victoria

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Wharf, Coal Harbor, B.C." will be received until 10 o'clock a.m. on Wednesday, August 6, 1930, for the construction of a wharf, at Coal Harbor, Victoria, B.C.

Plans and form of contract can be seen and specification and forms of tender obtained at this Department, at the office of the District Engineer, Post Office Building, Victoria, B.C.; Victoria Builders' Exchange, 400 Fort Street, Victoria, B.C.; The Building and Construction Industries Exchange, 343 West Pender St., Victoria, B.C.; also at the Post Office, Qualicum, B.C.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on printed forms supplied by the Department and in accordance with conditions contained therein.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works, equal to 10 per cent of the amount of the tender. Bonds of the Dominion of Canada or bonds of the Canadian National Railway Company will also be accepted as security, or bonds of a cheque if required to make up an odd amount.

NOTE—Bids must be obtained at this Department by depositing an accepted cheque for the sum of $10.00, payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works, which will be returned if the intending bidder submits a regular bid.

N. DESJARDINS, Secretary, Department of Public Works, Ottawa, July 10, 1930.

Oil Industry Faces Severe Competition

The oil industry is facing one of the most severe periods of competition in its history, in the opinion of The Brookmire Economic Service, which says in its advice this week:

"Refiners are making a related effort to reduce crude runs in order to bring the gasoline situation in hand. Gasoline stocks are the highest on record for this season of the year. Prices are distinctly weak, especially in California, where the oversupply is greatest."

"Troubles of the oil industry are not confined to the United States. South American production, which has increased rapidly during the past two years, has been a factor contributing to the present oversupply."

"Some reduction in output of crude in the United States has been reported in recent weeks and the curtailment of operations in South America should soon result in a sizable decline in output there. The large oversupply of both crude and refined products will make it necessary to cut production still further to bring real improvement. Refiners are able to extract an increasingly larger gallonage of gasoline per barrel of crude. Technical improvements in refining methods are accentuating the situation."

BOUT POSTPONED New York, July 25.—A heavy rain yesterday evening forced postponement of the boxing bout featuring a ten-round bout between Tommy Grogan, Omaha, and Bruce Flowers, New Rochelle. It will be held August 5.

ports reaching this office declare that in the past two decades there has never been the enthusiastic response given to the Liberal appeal that is manifest in the present campaign. As in the other provinces where Conservative governments hold office, the provincial machine has been called in to reinforce the Federal campaigners, but, as in Ontario, the general feeling

Melfi, Italy, July 25.—For three days soldiers and workers tried to extradite twenty-year-old Giuseppe Bochepi from a mass of debris in what had been her home.

The girl was pinned down in such a manner that it was impossible to get food or water to her.

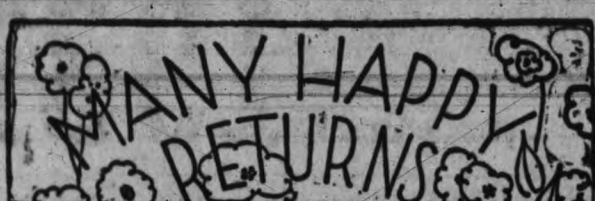

To-day, just before the King arrived a wall masonry fell, killing the famished girl.

PROSPECTS ARE FOR THE RETURN OF LIBERALS IN KIDDERLEY. Last Mountain, Mackenzie and Shovelton. In the last House those constituencies sent members to the Independent Progressive group.

"Reports from Manitoba are encouraging and the last week has witnessed a tremendous advance for the Liberal candidates. Conservative sportsmen in the central prairies were offering two to one a couple of weeks ago on the prospects of an opposition majority from Manitoba. The odds have steadily declined until now the investment funds have vanished. The trust of the Conservative attention is being given to Winnipeg South and Springfield."

These somewhat vague hopes were entertained of defeating Mr. McDermid and Mr. Blisset. The fight continues with unabated vigor in those ridings with the Liberal candidates retaining their edge. Conservative meetings in Dauphin, Brandon, Macdonald, Neepawa, Portage la Prairie, Ligar and Nelson have fallen somewhat flat. The Manitoba voters are not interested in higher taxation and billion dollar promises. A steady improvement in the Liberal position is noted in Marquette, Selkirk and Souris, while Provencer and St. Boniface are safe.

"The coast-to-coast survey of the situation foretells a substantial Liberal majority over all in the next Parliament."

David Belasco Ran Away From Home to Join Circus

A little boy who had run away to join a circus lay very ill in a small American town, far from home. The circus had appealed to his imagination and he had gone off without a thought for his father and mother.

Now he was sorry and wished he were back home. He had become a bareback rider in the circus, and had done very well, though he was often homesick.

Now he was so ill that the circus had to go on without him. An old clown, who had taken a fancy to the boy, could not bear to see him left there in the town, ill and depending on charity. So he stayed behind to take care of him.

They had no money, but the clown, when he was not watching over the feverish lad, went out in the street and did tricks, passing his hat to earn a few coppers on which they could live.

For a time it seemed that the boy might die, but, with the clown's loving care, he gradually grew better. Then a terrible thing happened. The clown caught his fever, became dreadfully ill, and in a few days was dead.

The boy was terrified and alone. Just at this time his father, who had been trying to find him, located him and came for him. Never was a boy gladder to get home again.

The boy who joined the circus and learned such a lesson was David Belasco, born July 25, 1863, who became a great theatrical producer.

QUESTIONS ON ELECTION ARE NUMEROUS NOW

As Polling Day Approaches Returning Officers Bombard Ottawa Officials

Canadian Press Ottawa, July 25.—As polling day draws near, returning officers are pouring queries into Ottawa. Telegrams come in at the rate of fifty a day. The long distance telephone calls follow one another rapidly for elucidation of this or that.

One of the chief difficulties apparently arises from the urban enumeration. Enumerators left slips at houses in notification of their calls, but errors made in transferring names from the enumerators' field book to the list resulted in the name being left off, and the electors now want their votes.

The errors are causing some confusion now. It is feared the confusion will be worse on election day.

CERTIFICATE SYSTEM The Dominion Elections Act, as amended last session, contains no provision for the correction of errors in enumeration. The only provision is for printers' errors. But where the two candidates agree, a certificate to the effect that the vote will be granted to each elector affected. If the candidates do not agree, the vote cannot be cast. Many such errors of enumeration have been brought to the attention of Jules Kaslo, chief electoral officer, in Russell County, Ont., a question arose over only one vote. The candidates agreed, however, and a certificate will be issued.

5,000,000 VOTERS No totals are yet available of the number of electors who will be entitled to vote on Monday, but it is roughly estimated they will be in the neighborhood of 5,000,000. In the last general election the number on the lists was 4,665,981. The votes cast numbered 3,273,062.

Melfi, Italy, July 25.—For three days soldiers and workers tried to extradite twenty-year-old Giuseppe Bochepi from a mass of debris in what had been her home.

The girl was pinned down in such a manner that it was impossible to get food or water to her.

The odds have steadily declined until now the investment funds have vanished. The trust of the Conservative attention is being given to Winnipeg South and Springfield."

These somewhat vague hopes were entertained of defeating Mr. McDermid and Mr. Blisset. The fight continues with unabated vigor in those ridings with the Liberal candidates retaining their edge. Conservative meetings in Dauphin, Brandon, Macdonald, Neepawa, Portage la Prairie, Ligar and Nelson have fallen somewhat flat. The Manitoba voters are not interested in higher taxation and billion dollar promises. A steady improvement in the Liberal position is noted in Marquette, Selkirk and Souris, while Provencer and St. Boniface are safe.

"The coast-to-coast survey of the situation foretells a substantial Liberal majority over all in the next Parliament."

They Couldn't Know

BACK IN 1818 the greatest newspaper of the day declared that the world had reached the limit of human expansion. It even went further, saying that there weren't enough supplies in the world to support further growth of population.

The mind of 1818 couldn't conceive of the miracles that human ingenuity would perform during the twentieth century. It couldn't imagine the wonders that would be wrought by new agricultural methods and modern manufacturing genius. It was ignorant of transportation as we know it, or the progressive sales methods of to-day. It could not see the vital part that would be played by advertising.

Even to-day there are some who fail to realize what an important factor advertising has become. Advertising is as much a part of to-day's life as electricity, anti-septic surgery or automobiles. It keeps us up-to-date on the many things we need in order to live profitable, happy and useful lives. It presents for our approval articles of all kinds and for all purposes. The requirements of each member of the family are met by advertised offers of good merchandise of proved value.

The advertisements save time, money and effort for those who read them and follow their guidance. They are practical guarantees of satisfaction.

NEW INTEREST IN AVIATION IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, July 25.—Through the agency of Major-General J. H. MacBrien, head of the Aviation League of Canada, the Vancouver branch of the league was revived at a meeting here yesterday afternoon.

Purposes of the league were outlined by General MacBrien, who explained that its function was the correlation of the efforts of all organizations working for the advancement of aviation. Provincial flying clubs and glider clubs throughout the Dominion were aided and encouraged in experiments and in extending their organization.

On his suggestion a provisional committee of eight was formed, which will call the first meeting of the revived branch July 30. Col. W. D. S. Borison was elected chairman and Leonard Miller secretary of the provisional committee.

PROSECUTIONS OF DOG OWNERS who have failed to secure licenses for their pets are now being carried out by the city dog tax department.

This morning in the City Police Court costs of $3.50 were imposed on J. Stevens who had paid the license after being summoned.

Other cases will be brought to court if the owners of dogs fail to procure licenses, it was stated.

BODY IS RECOVERED Moose Jaw, Sask., July 25.—Boys swimming in the river here yesterday discovered the body of W. J. Corenity, aged seventy-three, who had been missing since Monday night, when he attended a religious camp meeting on the bank of the river.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Sarah Love Howlett, widow of William Howlett, passed away yesterday at the family residence, Leach Street, aged seventy-two years. She was born in Sussex, England, and is survived by two sons, Frederick of Victoria, and Raymond of Alberta, one daughter, Mrs. Peacock of Victoria, and one sister and one brother, Mrs. Mooson, Portland, and James Carley of Michigan. The funeral will be held from the B.C. Funeral Chapel on Saturday at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be made in Ross Bay Cemetery.

There passed away at Port Angeles, Washington, recently, Walter Newburn, aged fifty-eight, formerly of Victoria. The late Mr. Newburn was born in Lincolnshire, England, December 1, 1872, and settled in Victoria in 1910, but moved to Port Angeles in 1920. Until about fourteen months ago he worked in Port Angeles and at the Grays Harbor Pulp and Paper Mills in Hoquiam. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow, two sons, Walter Newburn of Seattle, and Ernest of Port Angeles; four daughters, Mrs. Amy Drew and Miss Elsie Newburn of Seattle, Mrs. Lily Walton and Mrs. Grace McKimmings, Port Angeles; a sister, Mrs. Gibson of Victoria, and two sisters and one brother in England. Mr. Newburn was a veteran of the World War, having served with the British naval forces for four years. Funeral services were held at the Christian mortuary, with Rev. McLean Goldie officiating. Interment was in Ocean View Cemetery.

More Loot For Trousers Burglar

Winnipeg, July 25.—Winnipeg's highly proficient "pants burglar" borrowed the disturbing actions of the lowly house fly to rob his latest victim, Michael Rosenblatt, of $164. Michael had the good sense to put his trousers containing a roll of bills under his pillow last night, but something came tickling his nose and he tossed and turned to escape what he believed to be a fly. The trousers, or more particularly the bank roll, immediately took wing. Police calculate the evasive garment snatcher used a feather from Rosenblatt's pillow to make him move his position and permit easy access to the pocket.

His years of operating and experience in getaways made it easy to evade the police owing to the latter having no description of him.

NEWS IN BRIEF

W. B. Townley, charged with obtaining board and lodging by false pretences, was dismissed by Magistrate George Jay in the City Police Court this morning.

The Victoria Girls' Band will render a full programme of music during the special evening cruise on the Princess Patricia, which will leave the Belleville Street docks at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

"Ellas and Wong" will be heard from CPCT at 3 o'clock to-night, and in their fifteen-minute sketch they will discuss, in humorous manner, the subject of politics. These comedians are making a special appeal to their many listeners for comments and suggestions, and radio enthusiasts are invited to write to CPCT.

Notices of incorporation in this week's issue of the B.C. Gazette indicate that miniature golf under a variety of names continues to ride on the crest of the wave in Vancouver as well as in Victoria. Along with the rest of the continent Vancouver is building new courses. The Pee Wee Golf Club, The Midway Golf Club and the Tiny Tim Golf Club are the latest to get into action.

The City Zoning Board of Appeal yesterday granted permission for remodeling of the A. G. Flumet's property at 835 Pemberton Road as a girls' school. The application had been opposed by property owners in the neighborhood. Application by H. T. Knott for leave to convert a dwelling at 1233 Oscar Street into two apartments was also granted.

The Department of Public Works will undertake the general improvement of the Mahat Drive as soon as the heavy tourist season is over. It was announced yesterday. In view of the amount of traffic using the highway at present, it was felt that it would not be safe either for workmen or motorists to commence the work at once.

Business School Heads Discuss Modern Curricula

Western Delegates Hear For Convention Opening To-day

Demonstrations of the "stenotype," a new machine for taking shorthand, and consideration of new machine methods of accounting featured the opening meeting of the National Association of Business Schools convention in the Spott-Shaw Schools to-day.

Delegates from various points in British Columbia, Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Western Montana are attending the session which will continue to-morrow and close with a six-day drive in the afternoon. To-morrow afternoon the visitors will be entertained at a luncheon in the Empress Hotel.

Matters before the convention pertained chiefly to the studies and administration of business colleges. The association includes accredited business schools all over the continent, and the executive, which takes into consideration the staff, equipment, quarters, courses and advertising of the respective branches.

SPOKANE MAN FRESHING

A. E. Cane, president of the Northwest Business School of Spokane, and A. Porter, secretary of the National Association, are attending the session. The former presided at the meeting to-day, and will continue in the chair during the business meeting to-morrow.

British Columbia delegates to the Business Educators' Association conference in Winnipeg, including J. H. Beatty, of the local Spott-Shaw School, will speak on various issues at the meeting, which is being held at the Empress Hotel.

While the majority of delegates are expected to return to their respective cities to-morrow evening, some will stay over for golf.

Hotel Lobby Gossip

To spend a couple of days enjoying themselves in Victoria, a party of millionaires arrived at the Empress Hotel to-day and are occupying one of the period suites in the new wing. The party consists of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Skinner and Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Jaeger, of New York, and H. B. Benedict of Chicago.

The escort of a young woman who arrived here to-day solemnly explained to her this afternoon that Victoria was on an island, that all communication was by boat and that there were no such things on this island as trains, and that there was not even a freight car.

Another visitor overhearing this went to one of the references in the hotel library and found that not only have both the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National, a network of lines running up the island, but that the Island lines are credited with the most intensive and most profitable traffic of either railway systems across Canada.

Among those who came in from the south to-day are Mrs. G. C. de Zaldo, of San Jose; Miss I. Reed, of San Jose; Dick Carlson, of Los Angeles; Miss E. Gilbert, and A. J. Boyce, of California.

Vancouverites who came over to-day include: Mrs. Harry Duker, Mr. and Mrs. Andrews, E. P. McDermid Jr., J. H. Harrison, F. B. Lewis and R. M. Brown.

From Winnipeg there are George H. Morley and S. W. Marson.

VOSS CANOE TO BE PLACED NEAR CRYSTAL GARDEN

Old Craft in Which Victorian Started For England in 1901 to Be on Exhibition

Now Being Reconditioned and Painted in Its Original Colors at Outer Dock

Reconditioned and painted after its stormy voyage around the world, started over a quarter of a century ago, the old Victorian, Indian war canoe in which Capt. J. C. Voss, hardy old sea dog of Victoria, sailed from this port to England, will come to rest once again on a site where, when it started, the James Bay mud flats used to be.

According to word from the Chamber of Commerce and Publicity Bureau, the old craft, battered and weather beaten, will be painted and placed as one of the relics of old Victoria in front of the Crystal Garden.

The boat, an outstanding example of the seaworthiness of the old Indian crafts, set out from Victoria with Capt. Voss at the helm on May 27, 1901. With him went another Victorian, but before the journey to England was completed, the latter turned back. Voss, the romantic skipper, drilled in the hard school of whaling and sealing fleets which once plied the waters of the Pacific Northwest, continued his journey, touching on the coast of the southern states, before branching off to the Fiji Islands. There, according to the captain, he was an unwilling party to many harrowing experiences, before he again set sail for New Zealand and Australia.

BESTED ON BANKS OF THAMES

After many exciting adventures, the thirty-five-foot craft worked its way to England, and was discarded in the Thames, where for a time it rested in the mud and ooze. Anxious to preserve the relic of the epoch-making journey, the Chamber of Commerce and Publicity Bureau, through the good offices of the Furness Line, generously brought the canoe to Victoria, where it was unloaded on the Outer Wharf.

Disappointed and thereby with a huge hole punched through the bow, the craft presented a forlorn look in its crate at the wharf. Steps were taken to have it put in its original condition, and a painter was employed to restore its colors.

The boat itself, scarcely more than thirty feet long and with a beam of about six feet, is built along similar lines to a Newfoundland dory. Fore and aft it is decked in and boasts a small cabin.

Beating before the wind in the craft, across the Pacific, Capt. Voss rivaled the much-famed trips of the Norsemen, who were reported to have crossed the North Atlantic from their home in the Scandinavian peninsula to North America in their Viking ships.

GREAT NAVIGATOR

Many were the thrilling experiences recounted by the doughty skipper to breathless audiences in England, after he had completed his journey. Stories in which he characterized the peaceful Tonguees as a blood-thirsty tribe which held him prisoner, came from the captain's lips. But despite his imaginative mind, his accomplishment in completing the voyage in the frail craft, during the huge combers of the Pacific, the uncharted reefs of the South Sea, as well as typhoons and terrific storms, will rank Voss among the most intrepid navigators of all time.

TRANSFORMERS ARRIVING FOR JORDAN RIVER

Four Pieces Weighing Twenty Tons Each Now on Way to Increase Victoria's Power

Four gigantic electric power transformers for stepping up to 60,000 volts to be developed by the new 18,000-horsepower generator being installed at Jordan River, will shortly be delivered at Jordan River from the Westinghouse Electric Company's factory at Hamilton, Ontario.

Two of the transformers arrived yesterday at Vancouver and the other two have been shipped by Canadian Pacific Railway and will arrive at the terminal city in a few days.

Each of the transformers weigh more than twenty tons, and the four will cost almost $500,000 when installed at Jordan River.

The two units now at Vancouver were transported on a special low deck freight car rented from one of the railways of the United States, the height of the pieces being too great to fit striking the roofs of tunnels in the mountains.

Among those who came in from the south to-day are Mrs. G. C. de Zaldo, of San Jose; Miss I. Reed, of San Jose; Dick Carlson, of Los Angeles; Miss E. Gilbert, and A. J. Boyce, of California.

Vancouverites who came over to-day include: Mrs. Harry Duker, Mr. and Mrs. Andrews, E. P. McDermid Jr., J. H. Harrison, F. B. Lewis and R. M. Brown.

From Winnipeg there are George H. Morley and S. W. Marson.

VALUE OF COLD STORAGE PLANT TO ISLAND TOLD

Real Estate Men Given Warm Account of Possibilities of Local Institution

A favorable report on the relation of the Cold Storage Plant to the farmers of Vancouver Island was presented by H. D. Patterson and Horace Goad, speaking for the committee which had studied the matter, at the luncheon of the Real Estate Board of Victoria in Spencer's private dining-room to-day.

Both saw great possibilities in the plant if it received the intelligent cooperation of fruit and vegetable growers on the island.

D. Leeming, reporting on the plumbings by-law, stated no definite steps had been taken by his committee since its meeting with the Chamber of Commerce last week. The committee was ordered to function until the matter had been completely thrashed out.

"I could not express myself too strongly in regard to the possibilities for the cold storage plant in its relation to developing farming on the island," said Mr. Patterson, reporting on the plant. He felt sure that facilities were quite adequate to cope with Island produce. He spoke of the new freezing process, saying he thought it only needed education and co-operation on the part of farmers of the island to make the cold storage plant a flourishing concern.

Horace Goad stated his committee had attempted to find out the cost of different produce to see how much the farmers were making.

In the case of green peas, he found that farmers got from $175 to $200 an acre.

A new method of gaining security for farmers was pointed out by Mr. Goad. In the east, farmers could secure drafts for the value of their produce as soon as it was placed in storage, he said. As a concrete instance, Mr. Goad stated that several boats had recently come to Victoria laden with fish. When their owners found they could not cash in on a warehouse receipt, they had left Victoria for Seattle where they were given a certain sum.

Both Mr. Patterson and Mr. Goad spoke of the value of the cold storage plant in freezing produce to be sent from the island to eastern markets.

Introduction of a "headliner" organization in the Real Estate Board, was introduced by Major Kirkpatrick-Crockett during the luncheon. He thought it would be a valuable source of information for the board, he said.

A letter was read from Prof. E. M. Straight of the Dominion Experimental Farm, thanking the board for its courting in extending him a life membership in the organization.

Selection of a delegate from the Victoria board to represent the city at the Pacific Northwest Real Estate Association at Vancouver, Washington, from August 17 to 20, was referred to the executive. Arrangements were also left to the executive to name a speaker at the meeting.

FORESTERS HOLD PICNIC SUNDAY

The Ancient Order of Foresters combined courts will hold their annual picnic this year at the Spanish Athletic Park and beach on Sunday next. A large and interesting programme of sports and amusements have been prepared for the enjoyment of young and old alike. Ice cream will be served liberally to the youngsters who will be given free transportation to the grounds, leaving the Foresters' Hall from 9:30 to 10:30 o'clock in the morning.

Six teams have entered for the softball games between the courts. Five of the teams are from the ladies' courts who will no doubt be well supported by the fans.

Events have been included in the programme to accommodate the athletes of twenty years ago who think they can still perform in a creditable manner. The buses will leave for Victoria between 6 and 7 o'clock at night.

BIG MISSOURI PUSHES AHEAD PLAN FOR MILL

250-Ton Plant at Riverside Mine on Salmon River in Deal

Stewart, B.C. July 24.—Rumors circulating throughout the district for the past few weeks to the effect that the Consolidated is contemplating a mill at their Big Missouri property were brought to a head with the announcement that the big smelting company has been in communication with the owners of the Riverside mine for the purchase of the mill and plant at Seven Mile on the Salmon River. This announcement is further augmented by the fact that the Riverside owners have had men on their property placing a valuation on the machinery. Big Missouri has responded to development in a big way, according to well-informed engineers, but both Consolidated Smelters and the Big Missouri Mining Company have been reticent regarding the importance of the value and amount of ore indicated. But recent developments must have been highly satisfactory, for after a conference in Vancouver between Consolidated and Buena Vista Mining Company officials, it was definitely stated that a pilot mill would be erected to ascertain the best method of treating the ore, and development would be aggressively continued. A proposed site for the mill was also discussed at this meeting. The title to the Big Missouri mine is held by the Buena Vista Mining Company in which Consolidated Smelters has a fifty-three per cent interest and Big Missouri Mining Company forty-seven per cent interest. Big Missouri Mining Company, owned jointly by Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, the Buena Vista Mining Company, which in turn owns the Big Missouri mine, in the Portland Canal mining division of B.C., has officially announced an aggressive development programme which includes the construction of a new mill and possibly a power plant for this property, information received by Miller, Court and Company from The Financial Post to-day says. The Financial Post reported details of the programme under consideration and pointed out that the official confirmation could be expected after a meeting to be held July 2, at Tacoma, Wash., directors of Buena Vista, made up of officials of the Big Missouri Mining Company, Consolidated Smelters, held an all-day session, following which, P. D. Oakley, president of Big Missouri Mining Company, announced that both groups of engineers had agreed on plans for development and the construction of a mill. In a wire to The Financial Post dated July 4, P. D. Oakley said that further conference would be held before final decision on the mill capacity would be reached, but that in all probability this would be announced within ten days. In the preliminary conference a 250-ton mill was discussed but now a 500-ton capacity seems likely. Officials have been reticent regarding the development of this property and the announcement last week is the first of an official character that really indicates how important and how successful development operations have been. Preceding the official announcement, Big Missouri Mining stock had a spectacular run on the market. From a low of forty cents per share early in May it reached a high of seventy-eight cents per share last July 2, the highest it has been since late in February. Although Big Missouri Mining is an American Company, with its head office at Tacoma, Wash., it has a large number of Canadian shareholders, particularly among the employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which company is indirectly interested through control of the Consolidated Smelters. Investors desiring to participate in the potentialities offered by the Big Missouri mine are obliged to either purchase stock in Consolidated Smelters or in Big Missouri Mining Company. The latter has been the popular market trader, its principal interest and value being measured by its holdings in the Buena Vista mine, although the company has a promising lead-zinc property now being developed by its subsidiary the Missouri Monarch Consolidated Mine.

Honor Conferred On John Woods

Word was received a few days ago of a great honor conferred upon Mr. John Woods of Victoria, representative of the International Correspondence Schools, Canadian, Ltd. Out of nearly 1,000 representatives, Mr. Wood was awarded a trip to Scranton, Pennsylvania, as a guest of the I.C.S. This award was based upon the constructive work done by the local man not only as a salesman but as a vocational advisor who is performing a very constructive educational service in this locality.

At the conference of the fifty winners of this award from all over the United States and Canada Mr. Wood met and discussed many of the educational problems confronting men and industries to-day.

During a span of nearly forty years, the I. C. S. have played a very important part in preparing men for more efficient work and for advancement in the trades and professions. So successful has this work become that to-day more than 3,000 business and industrial concerns have entered into educational arrangements with this institution for the training of their employees including 5 or 6 on Vancouver Island.

Three hundred railroads have similar arrangements and more than 600 universities and technical schools are using I. C. S. textbooks for reference in classroom work.

Mr. Woods mentioned that this institution spends annually an average of $155,000 to keep their courses up-to-date and in the preparation of new texts. They offer at the present time 241 special and distinct courses and offer elective subjects which satisfy the immediate and future needs of any ambitious man.

The work of Mr. Wood in this city is a distinct contribution to the education of hundreds of people whom he has helped, through his contact and advice, to advancement. During the year he acts as consultant to hundreds who seek to improve their work through application and special instruction.

Widening By-law Is to Go Before Council August 4

Second reading of the Port Street Dardanelles widening by-law will probably be given at the meeting of the City Council on August 4. A special committee meeting of the council yesterday afternoon received the report of the valuations named to survey the property on Port Street which must be expropriated to complete the widening scheme. A few routine details remained to be settled and the by-law will then be ready for the council.

MISSIE'S FLANNEL SKIRTS

TODAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.

Winnipeg, July 25.—Wheat: Again pursued an erratic, nervous course opening unchanged to 1/4 higher and then steadily declining until prices were 1/4 cent under the previous close and again receding to the high points of the day.

The late recovery was largely due to short covering with the bulls receiving some encouragement from a report sent out by the local office of the Northern Grain Company to the head office in Chicago that after an inspection of the crops in Saskatchewan the conclusion reached was that 7,000,000 acres had suffered severe losses and that very small yields were to be expected. The outside news was also mostly bullish.

There is now little doubt but that the wheat crop of 1930 in any country combined will be nearly 200,000,000 bushels less than last year, while crops in other countries have suffered recently from unfavorable weather, oil of which means increased buying of foreign wheat.

Rust reports were again numerous, and it is now evident that the infection is rather heavy in Manitoba and the eastern half of Saskatchewan. The Manitoba crop in southern areas is fairly well matured and severe damage is not anticipated, but there is still plenty of time for heavy deterioration in north areas and in Saskatchewan.

Everything depends on the weather for the next week or ten days. Some reports of wheat cutting in southern Manitoba are reported and it is expected that the crop will be increased in the south is reported to have suffered severely from drought and high temperatures, and is resulting in increased feeding of wheat.

The demand for cash wheat was a little easier to-day with spreads about unchanged and holders were not pressing sales, but the buying was anything but keen. Export sales were placed at 200,000 bushels. A two-sided market is indicated with preference to a buying position on dips. Wheat closed unchanged to 1/4 higher.

Coarse grains: Oats held steady and barley a little firmer, but there was very little going on and offerings were extremely light. A little local buying developed in the forenoon but apparently there was nothing for sales until prices were advanced rather sharply and after the demand satisfied part of the upturn was lost. Demand for barley for eastern Canada for feeding quality but there is nothing doing in export circles.

The Dancing Floor

By JOHN BUCHAN

Vernon, too, was fit again. If a young man starts with a fine constitution and a strong character, and applies all the powers of his mind to the task of getting well, he is almost certain to succeed. He came back to London a lean, sunburnt creature, with an extraordinarily ruffled look about him. He had lost nothing of his youth, indeed he scarcely looked his twenty-five years; but he had been fined down and autumned and so that his hair was a light shining behind. I have noticed the same thing in other cases of head wounds. You remember how Jim Barracough, who used to be a heavy red-haired fellow, came out of hospital looking like a saint in an Italian primitive.

Vernon was changed in other ways. You see, he belonged to a generation which was cleaned out by the war, and he had scarcely a friend of his own year left except my nephew Charles. That should not have meant so much to him as to other people, for he had never depended greatly on friends, but I think the thought of all the boys who had been at school and college with him lying under the sod gave him a feeling of desperate loneliness, and I found him back more than ever on himself. I could see that even I meant less to him than before, though I still meant a good deal.

I was partly to blame for that, perhaps. The war had altered everybody's sense of values, and unconsciously I had come to take his dream less seriously. I had got into a mood of accepting things as they came and living with short horizons, and the long perspective which dominated his thoughts seemed to me a little out of the picture. I was conscious of this change in myself, and strove not to show it, but he must have felt it, and the blinks came down ever so little between us. For it was clear that the dream meant more than ever to him. He was in the last lap now, had rounded the turn and was coming up the straight, and every nerve and sinew were on the stretch. I couldn't quite live up to this ardour, though I tried hard, and with that lightning instinct of his he was aware of it, and was sparing of his confidence. The thing made me miserable,

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggly's Rain Shower

(Copyright, 1930)

By HOWARD R. GARIS

The sun shining bright and hot in Woodland, where Uncle Wiggly had built his hollow stump bungalow, off to the west there was snow on top of the Orange Mountains, but even those great drifts of white crystals did not make it cool under the trees and bushes close to where the rabbit gentlemen sat out in front of his bark house.

The rabbit children, the puppy cats and pussy dogs—Oh, dear me! There I go again, mixing everything up. Well, please excuse me on account of the heat. I mean the puppy dogs and the pussy cats—the rabbits, the ducks, the birds and even the squealing pigs felt so hot that they did not even play lollypop tag. This is a game where you do nothing but shut your eyes and try to guess the flavor of a lollypop that somebody else gives you a bit of.

Lollypop tag is one of the nicest games in the world. It is so easy to play, and when animal children lie down and go to sleep under the shady bushes, instead of guessing the flavor of candy on a stick, you may know it is hot.

It's so hot I don't want to wag my tail!

"On, dear!" whined Jackie Bow Wow as he looked at a fly on his leg. "It's so hot I don't want to wag my tail to make that fly buzz away."

"It's awful hot!" mewed Kitten Kat, not even taking the trouble to blink her eyes. "I wish it would rain and cool off."

"Oh, rain would be lovely!" quacked Lulu Wobblewobble, the duck girl. "I like to paddle around in the rain and squish mud."

"But it will never rain when the sun shines so hot and bright in the sky," grumbled Neddie Stubbitt, the boy bear, who felt the heat more than any of the others because of his thick, shaggy fur.

Then spoke Baby Buntly, the little orphan rabbit. Said Baby Buntly:

"Uncle Wiggly could make it rain right now, if he wanted to, and cool it off. Uncle Wiggly could make a nice rain shower."

"Oh, he could not!" cried all the other animal children.

"He could!" said Buntly. Uncle Wiggly could make it rain any time he wanted to, so he is never wet.

"Oh, Baby Buntly!" cried Kitten Kat. "How can you say such things? It can only rain when the clouds up in the sky want to squish water out of their selves. Uncle Wiggly can't do it at all!"

"He can!" said Buntly. "He cannot!" mewed Kitten Kat.

"Wiggly!" whined Jackie Bow Wow. "I wish Uncle Wiggly would make a rain shower. I wish he'd make one now and cool us off!" whined Peetle Bow Wow. "It's awful hot!"

"Don't let Baby Buntly fool you!" blurted Bully Wagtail, the goat boy, who was sure that Uncle Wiggly could not make rain any more than he could make a can."

"He can!" I'll show you! I'll go find Uncle Wiggly and get him to make a rain shower to cool us off, and then we can play lollypop tag!" cried Baby Buntly. She always called the old rabbit gentleman by the name "Uncle Wiggly." That was all the baby talk she knew.

"Ho! Ho! Ho!" laughed all the other animal children. "How silly you are, Baby Buntly. Uncle Wiggly can't make it rain!"

"I'll show you!" said Buntly, hopping away. He found Uncle Wiggly asleep in his easy chair in front of his bungalow in the shade, his pink nose gently twinkling.

"What is it, Buntly?" asked Mr. Longears as she tickled his whiskers and awakened him. "Is anything the matter?"

"The matter is it's awful hot," panted Buntly. "I wish you would make a nice, cool rain shower so we could hop in and out among the drops and then we'd feel better."

"A rain shower, Buntly?" asked Mr. Longears, hardly yet awake.

"Yes, said Buntly. 'I want you to make a rain shower, Uncle Wiggly.'"

"But, my dear Buntly," spoke Mr. Longears, smiling. "There is something beyond me. It can only rain when there are clouds in the sky, and you can see for yourself, the sky is blue and the sun is hot. But I told them you could make a rain shower any time you wanted to, Uncle Wiggly. So I guess you'll have to do it."

"You told them I could make a rain shower?" asked Mr. Longears. "Whom did you tell?"

"All the other children—they're hot, too, and they want to be cool," said Buntly. "So I guess, Uncle Wiggly, if you don't want to make me look silly, you'll have to start that rain shower. Go on! Please!"

"All right, Buntly," he said. "I'll do it! I've just thought of a way to make a rain shower to cool you off! And what happened next? You may read tomorrow night in the story about Uncle Wiggly getting all wet. And I do hope the mosquito doesn't break a hole through the screen door and come in to bite the gold fish on his silver nose; don't you?"

PRINCE MAN IS MISSING

Macklin, Sask., July 25.—Missing from home since Tuesday Ernest Breason is believed to have drowned in Moore's Lake, near here. His coat and hat were found in the abandoned boat on the lake shore, but dragging operations have so far been fruitless.

Russian scientists have succeeded in cross-breeding wheat and rye, producing a grain with the good qualities of the latter and resistance to cold of the former.

Dorothy Dix

"After All, Isn't Silence a Greatly Overrated Virtue? Perhaps Sometimes We Say Too Much, But, Oh! How Often We Say Too Little," Declares Dorothy Dix

A CALIFORNIA man is suing his wife for a divorce because, although they lived together in the same house, she has not spoken to him for seventeen years.

She has served him with delicious, well-cooked meals. She has kept his clothes mended. The house clean. But in all that time she has never uttered a word. She has never made a complaint about having to stand over the kitchen stove all day. She has never told him how tired she was. She has never nagged when he didn't come home at the proper time. She has never reminded him of his faults. She has never asked for money. And still the man isn't satisfied.

Doesn't this show what fussy, unreasonable creatures husbands are and how impossible it is to please them? No wonder so many wives give it up as a bad job and throw up their hands and quit. When they talk their husbands tell them, for heaven's sake, to shut up. And when they are dumb they get a summons to the divorce court. Can you beat it? And what is a poor woman to do?

Of course, men have always accused women of talking too much and pretended that it was a feminine weakness to which they were superior, but, as a matter of fact, they like a woman to have a nimble tongue and to know how to use it.

No dumb girl ever has any beaux. She may be a living picture in looks and a college graduate who is entitled to write half the letters of the alphabet after her name, but if she sits up in a profound and meditative silence, she sits alone. No man is going to take the trouble to break through her wall of icy reserve, or work like a coal heaver to entertain her.

On the contrary, men expect women to make the conversational running, and to interest and amuse them, and that's why the girl who carries a peppy line of talk can always leave the girl who has nothing to say for herself at the post. Observe any social gathering and you will see that it is the women who chatter like magpies who have the most men around them.

And in all good truth nobody's ideal of a woman who is pleasant to live with is a glum, silent woman. You can't picture the woman who never speaks unless she has something important to say as being the centre of a cheerful, happy home. You can't visualize a merry family gathering around a dinner table at whose head sits a woman who only opens her mouth to put food into it.

Why, such a woman would be a wet blanket in a household that would keep her whole family chilled to the bone. She would be a skeleton at the feast. She would be a silence that would shut up even the most confirmed gabbler and make everybody hush up as if they were at a funeral.

It takes a talkative woman to make a cheery household. It takes the sort of woman who can twitter on endlessly about nothing at all, who chirps to the canary and coos and gurgles to the baby and chats with the neighbors across the air shaft or over the back fence and who rushes at husband when he comes home in the evening with a volume of exclamations about: Is he tired, and has he had a hard day, and did he get his feet wet?

Stevenson rated the ability to be a good gossip as among the most desirable qualities that a wife could possess and certainly no women are more agreeable companions than those who have a gift for small talk, and who cannot go down the street, or to a club, or buy a roast without seeing or hearing something interesting and amusing.

Nor does it matter that their conversation is neither profound nor uplifting, but merely the small beer chronicles of the neighborhood. No one wants the roar of Niagara perpetually in their ears. They prefer the soothing babble of a brook.

So while men criticize women for talking too much, they don't really want them to stop. A man doesn't want to come home at night to a silent house. He doesn't want to spend an evening with a woman who never speaks. He may not feel like making conversation himself, but he wants to be talked to, and he would rather have a wife who nagged and waited up for him with a certain lecture every time he stayed out late at night than one who went around in sullen silence and kept him wondering what she was thinking about.

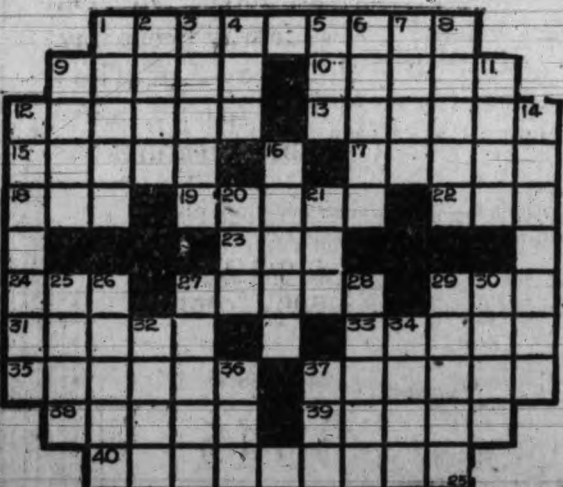

Every husband feels that it is his duty to knock his wife for gossiping, but even that is a masculine gesture that is not to be taken seriously, because every wife will bear testimony that her husband never berates her for having related a piece of scandal to him until after she has told him the last detail.

After all, isn't silence a greatly underrated virtue? Perhaps sometimes we say too much, but oh! how often we say too little. We are quick to condemn, but how slow we are to praise, and our lack of approbation can hurt just as much as our fault-finding. We blurt out a word in anger that stabs like a knife, but we let those about us, whom we love, perish of heart hunger because we will not voice the affection and the appreciation that we really feel for them.

God knows in the last day, when we shall come to judgment, whether we shall regret most the things we have said or left unsaid.

AT THE THEATRES

"JOURNEY'S END" IS MOST REALISTIC, CRITICS DECLARE

War in a subdued key—without martial airs, mock heroics and profanity—is the subject of "Journey's End," the Tiffany-Gainsborough all-dialogue screen version of R. C. Sheriff's play coming to the Playhouse Theatre.

It is said that an A.E.F. veteran who saw it at its Hollywood preview, exclaimed, "Why, I could feel the mud in my finger nails!" Of such realism is "Journey's End" made.

Real, too, are the characters—that splendid fellow, Captain Stanhope portrayed by Colin Clive, loaned from the London stage production by arrangement with Maurice Browne Ltd. There is "Uncle" Osborne, laying down his slowing pipe to go out on a raid, knowing he will be dead before it is cold—
a role entrusted to Jan MacLaren.

PLENTY OF COMEDY IN "ROOKERY NOOK" WITH ENGLISH CAST

Screen fare in the "silent" days of the cinema relied very largely upon slapstick methods to get over. Success was not easily won. The talking film has changed all this and "Rookery Nook," a British-made comedy, which opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre, is an outstanding example of the advantage the talkie has over the previous form of entertainment.

It would have been difficult to have successfully produced in a silent picture the subtleties of the very irresponsible charm of the quite impossible circumstances upon which the story of "Rookery Nook" is built up.

The fun is spontaneous; laughter leaps from one absurd incident to another in such natural fashion that the whole picture is a delight—a riot of non-stop nonsense.

NOVARRO SCORES HIT IN POPULAR MUSICAL ROMANCE

The current attraction at the Dominion Theatre presents Ramon Novarro in his latest all-talking and singing production, "In Old Madrid," with a superlative cast of supporting stars, including Beryl Mercer and Dorothy Jordan, who will be remembered for her work in the last Novarro picture,
"Devil May Care," and a newcomer to the talking screen in the person of Loretta Howell, a great favorite of the stage. This production offers Novarro ample scope for his wonderful singing voice, and his rendering of the big song hits in the show are superb. An excellent comedy and a musical specialty complete the bill.

MARIE SAXON AND JACK EGAN APPEAR IN BROADWAY STORY

A highly diverting and entertaining all-talking musical romance of a Broadway star and a burlesque hooper opened at the Playhouse Theatre today. It is "The Broadway Hooper," a Columbia production, starring Marie Saxon, Jack Egan and Louise Fazenda in the leading roles. George Archaimbaud handled the megaphone.

Marie Saxon, a recruit from a famous producer, she asked for and stage, possesses an outstanding screen personality. In addition she can sing and dance. She made an excellent impression on last night's audience.

It would have been difficult to have successfully produced in a silent picture the subtleties of the very irresponsible charm of the quite impossible circumstances upon which the story of "Rookery Nook" is built up.

The fun is spontaneous; laughter
